Early Settlement Of Coast Ford Strike Predicted

UNION HEADS, OFFICIALS IN CONFERENCE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—(UP)—Early settlement of the strike which closed the Ford Motor company plant at Richmond last week was forecast today by Mrs. Alice M. Rosseter, regional director of the National Labor Relations board. "I am very hopeful of a quick settlement of the dispute," Mrs. Rosseter said. "Negotiations are under way but I cannot divulge their nature because I do not wish to do anything which might disrupt them."

Mrs. Rosseter indicated she had succeeded in bringing together officials of the Richmond plant and representatives of the United Automobile Workers of America, striking CIO union, for a conference.

The UAWA filed a complaint against the local Ford management, with the National Labor Relations board, charging unfair tactics.

Clarence Bullwinkle, manager of the plant, which normally employs from 1,500 to 1,800 men, said he expected "a fairly important announcement may be forthcoming" after a meeting he was scheduled to hold with Pat Smith, Ford representative sent here from Detroit in an attempt to settle the dispute.

Smith came west after Frank Slaby, strike leader and president of the Richmond unit of the UAWA, refused to deal with local Ford officials "because they only are puppets."

Further indication of a possible settlement came from Slaby who revealed that Smith made counter-proposals to those advanced by Slaby.

CIVIL SERVICE SYSTEM BACKED

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today urged upon congress the desirability of placing "all but policy-forming positions" in the government under the civil service merit system.

In a letter to Vice President John N. Garner, the president pointed out that he had received from the civil service commission a communication urging him to act against pending proposals to exempt employees from civil service.

The president's letter said:

"My Dear Mr. Vice President: I have received a communication from the civil service commission which states that in addition to numerous other bills exempting from the merit system all but minor positions, there have been more than 70 bills introduced in this session of congress which propose complete exemption for all positions affected thereby. A copy of the commission's letter is herewith."

"Aside from the undoubted fact that the merit system affords the best method for administration of government business, the particular feature of the system which has the greatest appeal is the open competition it provides to the taxpayers to seek the public employment for which they pay."

"Please let me urge upon the congress the desirability of placing all but policy-forming positions under the merit system."

MAY OPPOSE MERRIAM

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 3.—(UP)—J. F. C. O'Connor, federal controller of the currency, refused today to deny or affirm reports he will run for governor of California on the Democratic ticket in November.

FAMOUS LOVERS UNITED IN MARRIAGE BY MAYOR, CLERGYMAN

A civil ceremony followed by a service of the Church of England today united the Duke of Windsor, England's former monarch, and Mrs. Wallis Warfield, once of a Baltimore boarding house. They departed a few hours later for secluded Wassereburg castle in Austria, where they will spend their honeymoon. The Duke issued two statements before departing, one describing the happiness of himself and his bride and the other pleading for consideration, understanding and privacy.

ASK VICAR TO EXPLAIN ACTION

DARLINGTON, Eng., June 3.—(UP)—The parochial council of St. Paul's church decided at an emergency meeting today to ask their vicar, the Rev. Robert Anderson Jardine, to explain why he married the Duke of Windsor and Mrs. Wallis Warfield without consulting church authority.

The vicar's warden of the church, L. Pattison, told the press that the council was composed of 22 members of an average age of about 30.

"Normally, we agree with the advanced views held by the vicar," he said, "but as vicar's warden I should have been told about his intention. The church council also has the right to know. If the council had been consulted, I am sure they would have advised against the vicar's participation in the wedding ceremony."

The rural dean of Darlington, Canon Herbert Gouldsmith, explained that although the vicar was not responsible to him in any way, "it is customary and an act of courtesy for vicars in a diocese to consult their rural deans on matters affecting the church."

"Vicar Jardine has not consulted me once during the 10 years he has been at St. Paul's," the dean said. "He is a man of unorthodox views."

CHURCH OF ENGLAND REFUSES TO RECOGNIZE DUKE'S RITES

LONDON, June 3.—(UP)—The Church of England, outwitted by an obscure country clergyman and confronted by an angry public controversy over its refusal to sanction the marriage of the Duke of Windsor, still does not recognize his wedding as blessed by the church, the Bishop of Fulham made it plain today.

Apparently because of the public temper and resentment against the church the Rev. Robert Anderson Jardine, who performed the ceremony, has been victorious with his defiance.

The Bishop of Fulham, who has jurisdiction over Anglican church affairs in France, admitted he would not be disciplined.

The bishop, who sent the Rev. Mr. Jardine a telegram of strong protest and rebuke, told the United Press:

Late News Flashes

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(UP)—Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson, D., Ark., told the senate today that he believed the supreme court would not uphold a ban on child labor such as was invalidated by tribunal 19 years ago.

CRISTOBAL, C. Z., June 3.—(UP)—Loaded with 700 tons of high explosives, the U. S. army transport freighter Luddington raced toward this port today with a fire in its No. 5 hold. The fire was discovered at 11 a. m. and the hold was sealed immediately.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 3.—(UP)—Labor strife struck two Sacramento industries today, bringing a walkout of an estimated 300 workers at the Del Monte cannery of the California Packing corporation while pickets established lines around 20 of the city's bakeries.

ROME, June 3.—(UP)—Italy has given assurances to three foreign ambassadors, it was said today, that Italy will not violate the non-intervention agreement or execute further reprisals against the loyalist government for bombardments of Italian ships unless there is a repetition of the incidents.

FINIS WRITTEN TO W. L. MORRISON CASE

Finis was written today to the case of William L. Morrison, American citrus worker, whose skin turned black, when Dr. John Montanus, Orange county pathologist, announced, following an autopsy that death was due to melanosis sarcoma.

An autopsy was held on the day of Morrison's death, Monday, and microscopic studies, confirmed diagnosis by physicians, prior to death.

According to Dr. Montanus, the pigmentation was rather unusual and further declared that sufferers from this disease, which is 100 per cent fatal, rarely live as long as Morrison did.

SEEK TO RESTRICT TAX COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., June 3.—(UP)—The American Petroleum Institute closed its midyear meeting today with plans to press for restrictions of state gasoline tax expenditures to the building of highways.

SLAYER OF FATHER ASKS SCHOOL BOOKS

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 3.—(UP)—Marian Ayres, 15, bewildered by the swift processes of law, and confined in the county detention home, awaiting a juvenile court hearing on charges she fatally shot her father, today asked authorities to bring her school books so she would not fall behind in her studies.

Marian was arraigned before Justice Phillip Smith late yesterday after a formal murder complaint had been issued against her by the district attorney.

The complaint accused her of killing her father, Frank T. Ayres, 47, in the family's mountain cabin early yesterday.

JOAN BENNETT IS GRANTED DIVORCE

LOS ANGELES, June 3.—(UP)—Joan Bennett, blonde film star, today was granted an uncontested interlocutory divorce from Gene Markey, film writer and producer, in a brief court hearing.

Miss Bennett, sister of Screen Star Constance Bennett and daughter of Richard Bennett, veteran stage actor, charged Markey with mental cruelty.

The decree was granted by Superior Judge Charles E. Haas after the actress testified that Markey was given frequent fits of temper.

SACRAMENTO, June 3.—(UP)—District Attorney Otis D. Babcock prepared today to carry his search for evidence of legislative corruption to Southern California in an investigation a county grand jury foreman estimated "may take three months."

Arraigned June 11

One man, Assemblyman Gene Flint of Los Angeles was under indictment thus far in the inquiry and will be arraigned before Superior Judge Dal M. Lemon June 11.

A deputy sheriff served a bench warrant on Flint yesterday afternoon as he approached the courthouse with his attorney to surrender. He was held at the county jail briefly while Attorney Clifford A. Russell arranged bond, then was arraigned on charges that he offered a bribe to Assemblyman Fred Reeves of San Pedro on May 14.

The indictment charged that Flint offered Reeves the money for a favorable vote on the Huntington Beach tideland oil bill introduced by Assemblyman Ralph L. Welsh. Welsh was said to have informed the grand jurors Flint told him he could deliver five votes on the measure, including his own, for $1450.

Flint was admitted to $5000 bond and was at liberty to return to his home in Los Angeles pending next week's arraignment.

U. S. FINANCING TO TOTAL $800,000,000

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(UP)—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. announced today that the government's June quarter financing will total $800,000,000 including $500,000,000 in new money. The remainder will replace $300,000,000 in bills maturing on June 15.

Morgenthau said the issue would be in the form of notes which will be offered Monday.

The new financing program will send the national debt above the $35,700,000,000 level, approximately $700,000,000 higher than the peak estimated in the January budget.

The total of new borrowing for the 1937 fiscal year will be increased beyond the $2,200,000,000 mark.

OPEN GREGG INQUIRY

LOS ANGELES, June 3.—(UP)—A grand jury investigation in the fatal shooting of Norman W. "Big Bill" Gregg, longshoreman leader, opened today with approximately 40 witnesses scheduled to testify. Patrolman W. H. Redding, exonerated by a coroner's jury for shooting Gregg after a cafe quarrel, was not present when the hearing opened.

DUKE MAKES NEW APPEAL FOR PRIVACY

CHATEAU DE CANDE, Mons, France, June 3.—(UP)—A plea—almost a prayer—for happiness, peace and privacy was voiced today by the Duke of Windsor as his stormy period of trial culminated in his marriage to Mrs. Wallis Warfield, the American-born woman for whom he gave up the throne of the British empire, defied his church and went into exile.

Two Services

There was a civil ceremony by the mayor of Mons, Dr. Charles Mercier, and the service of the Church of England by the Rev. Robert Anderson Jardine, rural Yorkshire clergyman who defied the ban of high ecclesiastical authorities on the wedding.

A few hours after the wedding, the duke and the duchess departed, smiling and happy, for their honeymoon in Austria. They left by automobile at 6:15 p. m. to board the express from Paris at Laroche Migenne, an obscure town in France.

Before starting on the honeymoon in the secluded, beautiful retreat of Wassereburg castle in lower Austria, the duke issued two statements, one describing the happiness of himself and his bride and the other pleading for consideration, understanding and privacy.

The second statement, dictated personally by the duke said:

Express Appreciation

"The Duke and Duchess of Windsor wish to take this opportunity of expressing their appreciation of the courtesy which has been for the foremost part shown to them in unprecedented circumstances."

"They like it to be on record that although inaccurate statements and reports seem to have been unavoidable during these months which have been trying to all concerned, there has been an evident willingness to contradict them."

"As regards the future, the duke realizes that any atmosphere of secrecy is unsatisfactory and he will always be prepared to supply any news of importance concerning the duchess and himself."

"At the same time, the duke and duchess, while fully understanding the difficulties, want on this day to appeal to the press of the world to give them that measure of consideration of the privacy which they feel is now their due."

Second Statement

Another statement was read in French and English to the reporters at the Chateau de Candé gates by Herman L. Rogers, who gave the bride away. In it, the man who gave up his throne and cut himself off from association with his family and most of his friends, to hear the phrase "forsaking all others" read in the impressive Anglican marriage service, said:

"The duchess and I wish to thank all those who so kindly sent us presents and good wishes on the occasion of our marriage."

RIVER MEASURE IS INTRODUCED

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(UP)—Sen. George W. Norris, Ind., Neb., moving to carry out President Roosevelt's national power planning objectives, today introduced a bill establishing seven great river valley authorities to conserve natural resources and to develop navigation, flood control and electric power throughout the nation.

Six New Setups

The Nebraska senator, sponsor of the original Tennessee Valley authority, proposed to multiply the TVA with six additional regional setups. In his message to congress today, President Roosevelt proposed that in an eighth river basin—that of the Mississippi—the existing Mississippi river commission would continue to operate.

Norris' proposals followed TVA principles except for an added provision designed to prevent issuance of injunctions by district courts against any of the authorities except upon posting of bond to compensate all groups involved for any injury or loss of profits.

The bill proposed the following seven regional authorities:

Atlantic Authority

1. The Atlantic seaboard authority, covering the drainage basins of rivers flowing into the Atlantic ocean and into the Gulf of Mexico. The east, below the Suwanee river.

2. The Great Lakes—Ohio valley (Continued On Page 2, Column 5)

CONGRESS IS GIVEN DUST, RIVER PLAN

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(UP)—President Roosevelt urged congress in a special message today to establish eight regional authorities over the country to combat dust storms, floods and droughts by a long time national planning program featuring generation of water power to block private monopoly.

Mr. Roosevelt proposed to duplicate the government's Tennessee valley development on major river basins throughout the nation. He asked speedy action because:

"Nature has given recurrent and poignant warnings through dust storms, floods and droughts that we must act while there is yet time if we would preserve for ourselves and our posterity the natural resources of a virile national life."

After an hour's debate, the house rejected, by a standing vote of 166 to 61, a move to refer the program to the house floor control committee and jurisdiction was given to the house rivers and harbors committee. Senate argument developed also over which committee should consider the measure but Vice President John N. Garner referred the proposal to the agriculture committee.

The president coupled his recommendation with a new plea for enactment of his executive reorganization plan and an open declaration against private water power monopoly. He suggested regional authorities for these seven flexible basins:

Atlantic seaboard; Great lakes and Ohio valley; drainage basin of the Tennessee and Cumberland rivers; drainage basins of the Mis-

GOV. DAVEY ACTS TO END STRIKE

CLEVELAND, June 3.—(UP)—Ohio Gov. Martin L. Davey took a hand in the harried steel strike scene today while a picket at a Republic Steel corporation plant was shot in the first physical outbreak of the siege in industrial Ohio.

The governor announced he would act as mediator in an attempt to settle a week old strike against three independent steel corporations which has made idle 70,000 workers in seven states.

At Warren, O., Steve John, 40, a picket, was hospitalized with gunshot wounds suffered when he was shot while allegedly attempting to keep non-striking workers from crossing the Mahoning river to enter a Republic plant there.

Governor Davey expressed hope of bringing together leaders of the independent steel producers and the Steel Workers' Organizing committee, which has sponsored the strike in a drive for signed union contracts.

Davey revealed that in addition to conferring with executives of Republic Steel and Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, he had been in telephonic communication with Philip Murray, white haired head of S. W. O. C.

National guard observers, in civilian clothes, infiltrated the scenes of strikes today.

GOODYEAR PLANTS CLOSED BY STRIKES

AKRON, O., June 3.—(UP)—Five thousand Goodyear Tire and Rubber company employees were idle today as sit down strikes closed one plant and part of another of the company's three divisions here.

A demand for a "relief" man was said to have started one of the sit downs. Arguments over rates, lay offs and controversies between unionists and non-unionists were blamed for others.

The sit downs came in the midst of contract negotiations between the United Rubber Workers' union and the management. A conference today was postponed. The union has petitioned the National Labor Relations board for certification as exclusive bargaining agent.

south river and the Red River to the north; Drainage basins of the Arkansas, Red and Rio Grande rivers; basins of the Colorado river and rivers flowing into the Pacific south of the California-Oregon line; the Columbia river basin of the Pacific northwest.

In addition, the president proposed to continue, apparently without substantial change, the existing Mississippi river commission which he described as "well equipped to handle the problems immediately attending the channel of that great river."

The president's proposal appeared to broaden the authority of the TVA to include the watershed of the Cumberland river in addition to its present supervision of the Tennessee river watershed.

Agencies Divided

The president divided the proposed agencies into two categories. In one he placed the TVA, a proposed Columbia valley authority which it was assumed would have jurisdiction over the Columbia river basin and the great New Deal dam projects at Bonneville and Grand Coulee and the Mississippi river commission.

In the other category he placed the other five agencies and described their duties as follows:

"The work of these regional bodies, at least in their early years, would consist chiefly in developing integrated plans to conserve and safeguard the prudent use of water, waterpower, soils, forests and other resources of the areas entrusted to their charge."

Useful Mechanism

"Such regional bodies," Mr. Roosevelt said, "would also provide a useful mechanism through which consultation among the various governmental agencies working in the field could be effected for the development of integrated programs of related activities."

"Projected programs would be reported by the regional bodies annually to the congress through the president after he has had the projects checked and revised in light of national budgetary considerations of all the region's work would be done," Mr. Roosevelt said, by the permanent national planning board he asked congress to create in his governmental reorganization message last January 11.

The president said that congress would have final authority under his program to authorize projects to be undertaken in each region. Construction should be done, he emphasized, "in whole or part by those departments of the government best equipped for the purpose, or if desirable in any particular case by one of the regional bodies."

Urges Co-operation

Mr. Roosevelt added that, to avoid overlapping and to encourage economy there should be close co-operation between the national government and its construction agencies with state, regional and local planning boards and commissions on interstate administrative arrangements.

"And provision should be made," he told congress, "for the effective administration of hydro electric projects which have been or may be undertaken as a part of a multiple purpose watershed development."

"The waterpower resources of the nation must be protected from private monopoly and used for the benefit of the people."

The president's transmission of his 1700 word message to the senate and house after several weeks of delay because of inter-administration differences over means of carrying out the plan coincided with these three developments:

Bills Prepared

1. Bills were prepared for introduction before both bodies to enact the program. The measure was expected to be divided into two titles. The first would establish the authorities; the second would set up machinery to administer the plan, power rate making authority and the part the war department should play in flood control and navigation.

2. The department of agriculture appointed Roy L. Kimmell, Amarillo, Tex., to co-ordinate the government's program to rehabilitate the southwestern dust bowl of 140,000 square miles in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico.

3. Government officials accepted that the supreme court's acceptance of a new challenge of the Public Works administration's authority to finance municipal power developments and refusal of a TVA case would result in six months delay in major PWA and TVA power operations. The government had asked that the PWA case be dismissed and that the TVA case be accepted.

REPORT DEATH OF REBELS' GENERAL

BERLIN, June 3.—(UP)—The official German news agency, D.N.B., announced tonight that Gen. Emilio Mola, commander of the Spanish insurgent northern army, had been killed in an airplane accident.

The German agency said the Spanish insurgent radio station at Salamanca, the insurgent general headquarters, had broadcast that Mola was killed at 7:30 p. m. while making a reconnaissance flight.

Five persons were said to have been killed in the crash. In addition to Mola, they were listed as two officers of the general staff, Mola's adjutant, and the pilot.

The crash occurred when the

DUKE, 'WALLY' ON HONEYMOON

friendly messages, which mean so much to us on this day.

"After the trying time we have been through, we now look forward to a happy and useful private life and to that measure of peace that we hope will be granted to us."

The world wide interest in the wedding was evidenced in the announcement of Rogers that the duke and duchess had received more than 2000 telegrams of congratulations and best wishes.

Undercurrent of Emotion
It was an impressive marriage ceremony, with the undercurrent of emotion. The 50 odd guests could not help but think of the sacrifices which Edward had made, or of the trial of fire which he had gone through for the woman who has become everything in the world to him, and to hope that they would be happy.

The eyes of some of the women moistened slightly when the organist, Marcel Dupre, played "Oh Perfect Love," from the English hymn book.

The religious ceremony was held in open defiance of the leaders of the Church of England, as the Duke had defied the British government to make his American-born love his wife.

There was a wedding breakfast after the ceremonies, and late today the duke and her grace, the duchess, left on their honeymoon in lower Austria, down near the Italian and Yugoslavian borders far from the world that showed such avid interest in their romance.

Held in Music Room
For the religious service, the guests gathered in the music room. There the duke and the woman whom he made his duchess knelt on white silk cushions before an altar improvised from an old oak chest and covered with a white satin cloth. A cross and two bowls of bright flowers, at either end, were on the altar as the Rev. Robert Anderson Jardine performed the ceremony prescribed by his Church of England.

To perform the service, he risked his career in the church. There was the boycott that kept members of the British royal family and officials of the government away. There was the ban of the church of which the duke had been head. There was the fact that this was the birthday of the duke's late father George V—a fact that brought more criticism on the duke's head.

17 Minutes For Ceremony
It took 17 minutes to complete the ceremony, and Wallis Warfield, once of a Baltimore boarding house, was her grace the Duchess of Windsor, wife of a former sovereign of one-fourth of the world, of a man who had sacrificed about as much as any man could—because he had wealth, position, adulation to sacrifice—to make her his.

The venerable Archbishop of Canterbury back in London, and his fellow church leaders, had warned that this marriage ceremony meant nothing; that the clergyman presiding was out of his parish, a wandering priest, without authority. But the duke and his bride felt that they were marrying in the sight of God, if not within the confines of the church authority.

Organist Marcel Dupre, inaugurator of the famous Wyanmaker organ in America, played all through the ceremony. Around him were the servants of the chateau whom the duke specially invited to the ceremony.

One topic of comment was that the shy duke did not kiss his bride after either civil or religious ceremony.

He was nervous, but not once did he give in to his old habit of fiddling with his necktie. His boyish, earnest voice was firm and clear in the responses.

Russell said today, "Mr. Flint will plead not guilty."

"The only question that arises in my mind now is my immediate course," he said in response to a question as to what procedure he intends to follow.

"This case came up quite suddenly and I haven't had any opportunity to go into it. Rumors were current, meantime, that the Los Angeles legislator had been offered a 'deal' wherein he would be shown leniency in return for evidence against the parties who gave him the money for his alleged attempts to buy votes."

Babcock, meantime, indicated he would go to Southern California after Flint's arraignment.

"I'll probably leave the latter part of next week for Los Angeles," he said, "and take up anything pertinent to the investigation. I'll see what I can find on the highway bill and possibly some features of the Welsh bill."

There were reports that Babcock would concentrate on seeking evidence to support indictments against two particular men, with the possibility that others also might be involved.

The "highway bill" to which the district attorney referred was a proposal—defeated in the senate after approval by the assembly—to reroute the Arroyo Seco boulevard in Pasadena.

OBJECTIVES OF COURT TOLD BY JUDGE ALLEN

Rehabilitation of men granted probation after conviction of a crime should be viewed as an important social and civic problem, Superior Judge James L. Allen told members of the Orange County Press Club last night at a dinner, served at the Corona Del Mar cafe.

Judge Allen was host to the press club at the monthly meeting of the organization made up of members of the working daily press of the county. Following the six-course dinner, Judge Allen outlined his two principal objectives as judge of the criminal court.

Sees Opportunity
One, he said, is the enlarging of the library at the county jail to give every prisoner an opportunity to improve his mind. The other, and most important objective, he said, is the rehabilitation of men who have been convicted of crimes or have pleaded guilty to accusations.

"For many of these men," he said, "this is their first appearance in criminal court and, if properly handled, probably will be their last. The important thing is to rehabilitate them after they are released from jail where they spend a part of their probationary period."

Return to Evil
"The majority of these men, if a guiding hand is extended, will make good as citizens and become valuable members of society. On the other hand, if they are denied assistance of the community, it is probable that they will return to the criminal court as a second offender. I believe that civic minded citizens and organizations who are really seeking an opportunity to serve humanity could do a great work by cooperating with the court in sponsoring these men and helping them in their fight to rehabilitate themselves."

William White, court reporter, also spoke and pointed out that a judge in criminal court does not have much pleasure when he is forced to pass judgment on men who are not willful criminals but have endangered society through the one false step. These men, White said, must be given a lesson but at the same time their past record must be taken into consideration.

Paying a tribute to Judge Allen, White said that, realizing his power to make or break a man, the jurist has never pronounced judgment on a convicted man until both sides of the story are known.

It was suggested that luncheon clubs and women's organizations could do a great service by helping the families of men serving jail terms while waiting for probation and that the men themselves could be given a helping hand if an individual or organization would assist them to find employment upon their release from jail.

During the dinner, Judge Allen was made an honorary member of the Press Club.

authority, for the drainage basins of the rivers flowing into any of the Great Lakes and of the Ohio river, except the drainage basins of the Tennessee and Cumberland rivers, and of the rivers flowing into the Mississippi river above Cairo, Ill., from the east.

2. The Tennessee Valley authority, for the drainage basins of the Tennessee and Cumberland rivers, of the rivers flowing into the Mississippi river below Cairo, Ill., from the east and of the rivers flowing into the Gulf of Mexico east of the Mississippi river, except the rivers below the basin of the Suwannee river. (This expands the existing TVA to include the Cumberland river and some additional territory.)

4. The Missouri Valley authority, for the drainage basins of the Missouri river and the Red river of the north, and of the rivers flowing into the Mississippi river above Cairo, Ill., from the west.

5. The Arkansas Valley authority, for the drainage basins of the Arkansas, Red and Rio Grande rivers, of the rivers flowing into the Mississippi river below Cairo, Ill., from the west and of the rivers flowing into the Gulf of Mexico west of the Mississippi river.

6. The Southwestern authority, for the drainage basins of the Colorado river and the rivers flowing into the Pacific ocean south of the California-Oregon line, and the great basin, that is, the drainage basins of the rivers in the western United States having no outlet to the sea.

7.—The Columbia valley authority, for the drainage basins of the Columbia river and of the rivers flowing into the Pacific ocean north of the California-Oregon line.

To Improve Navigation
"It is the intention of the bill," Norris said, "to improve navigation by the controlling of floods. In the same way, it is intended wherever feasible to store waters for irrigation, to prevent soil erosion, to reforest lands suitable for forestry, and thus to bring about the general improvement of agriculture."

"It is the duty of each authority to preserve the natural resources of the country, to improve the fertility of the soil, to study water levels, to prevent damage not only by floods but also by the destruction of the soils from wind and dust storms."

"Each authority is directed to generate electricity wherever the same can be done—consistent with the improvement of navigation and flood control—to build transmission lines, to transmit the electricity thus produced, and sell the same in the same manner as now provided in the Tennessee Valley authority act, to states, municipalities and farm organizations."

"Each authority is directed to give the widest possible distribution of such electricity to the municipalities and organizations of farmers."

Seek to Ban Injunctions
"The bill contains one provision not contained in the Tennessee Valley Authority act. That is, prevents the issuance of any injunctions by district courts enjoining any of the activities of the different authorities, except upon the giving of a bond which will compensate not only the authority, but also municipalities or farm organizations which may be injured or deprived of profits because of such injunction."

Breakfast Club Plans Expansion

Members of the Santa Ana Breakfast Club today discussed problems of vital importance to the expansion of the organization at their regular meeting at the Main cafeteria.

No regular outlined program was presented, but President Edward W. Cochems presided at the round table discussion.

C. D. Lindsey joined the club, boosting its membership well above the 125 mark.

Ed Marbie, Hunter Leach and Joel Ogle will be in charge of the next three Breakfast club programs.

Court Notes

Mrs. Mattie T. Clark has brought suit in superior court for a divorce from James Clark, father of her five children, whom she charges with cruelty. They married at Hickman, Kentucky, February 18, 1917, and separated last November 15.

Edmund Gralewski, Santa Ana, electrician, who was apprehended in Chicago and brought home last Tuesday to face a charge of issuing a bogus check for $500 to J. S. McCarty, Santa Ana business man, not only has lost his liberty but also his wife, Mrs. Eunice Gralewski yesterday filed suit in superior court for a divorce, charging cruelty. They married in Los Angeles in 1926 and separated April 5, this year.

Suit to quiet title to property in San Clemente has been filed in superior court by Patty Wild against Jessie W. Heinicke and Barbara Jean Heinicke.

BIG ATTRACTION ADDED TO AIR SHOW PROGRAM

Planned as an added attraction, a model airplane show will be held June 20 at Eddie Martin's Airport as a part of the aviation show being sponsored there by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce.

Announcement of the model plane show, which will bring to Santa Ana the winning planes in the national championship contest to be held in Long Beach June 13, was made yesterday following appointment of Bob Gerwing to head this division of the all day affair.

All-day Display
According to Gerwing, arrangements already have been completed guaranteeing that the model planes winning championships in the National competition and leading contenders will be on display all day at the airport. From 5 to 6 p. m., owners and designers of the model planes will fly their airplanes.

Gerwing said today that the exhibition will not be just a showing of airplanes made by boys interested in aviation but will be an exhibition of airplanes designed and manufactured by pilots and other aviation enthusiasts who design the model ships as a hobby.

Included in the exhibition will be model planes created by Johnny Martin, brother of Eddie Martin, and a pilot of the American Air Lines; "Happy" Russell, former Santa Ana pilot now with American Air Lines and other pilots of the same organization who build planes as a hobby.

The exhibition and demonstration will include airplanes equipped with small motors, Gerwing said.

CHURCH ELECTS 12 DEACONS AND THREE ELDERS

Election of three elders and 12 deacons for the three-year term and reorganization of the various church boards marked the annual meeting of the First Christian church congregation last night.

The business meeting was preceded by a pot luck dinner served in the education building of the church.

Elders elected were: H. C. Head, H. S. Nicks and Paul Neff. C. E. Phillips was elected elder emeritus. Deacons named by the congregation were: Forest Bennett, Ted Faulkner, W. P. Hagthrop, Albert Raymond, Ross Taylor, Jesse Williams, L. E. Williams, L. L. Brinson, George Allison, Fred Strong, George Hart and John Mills.

Several Re-elected
Following the congregational meeting, the official board of the church was reorganized with M. D. Haskell being re-elected chairman. Clyde Morrison was named vice chairman. J. A. George was re-elected treasurer and Paul Neff was re-elected secretary.

The board of elders and deacons reorganized with Clyde Morrison named chairman of the deacons and Lewis Williams, chairman of the board of elders.

Making the treasurer's report J. A. George said that receipts for the past 18 months totalled $12,578 in the church general fund and $4000 in the Sunday school and women's organization fund. The report was submitted for 18 months as the church recently changed the dates of its fiscal year. George also reported that all bills have been paid.

Department heads submitted their annual reports as follows: Worship, Lynn Crascher; missions, A. W. Gerard; education, Herbert Nicks; pastoral oversight, T. D. Knights; sociability, Lewis Williams; evangelism, Grant Henderson; practical service, H. B. Haskell; Women's Missionary society, Mrs. T. D. Knights; Women's Bible class, Mrs. L. Crascher; Christian Endeavor, Maude Williams; Men's Bible class, W. B. Martin; Deacons, A. J. Swoffer; Yo-Ma-Fo class, Don Walker; Dorcas club, Bertha Braden.

The Rev. W. Scott Buchanan, pastor of the church, submitted his report revealing that during the more than eight years of his pastorate there have been 933 additions to the membership, 52 deaths and 151 removals by letter. At present the church has a total membership of 1279 of which 1094 are resident members and 275 are non-resident members. Reverend Buchanan also outlined his program for the next year.

Music during the dinner was under direction of Willard Pasquet who also sang two solos. The invocation was by T. D. Knights and the benediction by Lewis Williams. Haskell presided as chairman of the official board of the church.

Johnson To Talk Before Realtors

Attorney Fred D. Johnson of the firm of Drumm, Tucker and Drumm will speak on "Oil Leases and Royalties" at the regular luncheon meeting of the Santa Ana Realty Board tomorrow at the Rossmore cafe.

He will discuss the control of royalties and oil leases by the Corporation Commission. Olive Lindemeyer, secretary of the Santa Ana Realty group, said.

PLANS "MODEL" HOME
A building permit was issued today to the Santa Ana Lumber Company for a four-room, one-story "model" home, to be built at 2116 South Ross street, Building Inspector Harold O. Rasmussen. The residence is to cost $1000.

PRESIDENT

Al Pickhardt, who yesterday was elected president of the Associated Student Body of Santa Ana Junior college for the fall term of 1937-38. He was named unanimously in the primary elections.

POISON OVERDOSE SAVES MAN'S LIFE

Had William Fredericks, 29, resident of an apartment at 173 South Lemon street, Orange, taken a small amount instead of an overdose of a poisonous mercuric compound yesterday afternoon, he would not have lived, attendants at Orange county hospital believed. Today his condition is "just fair" and he is given an even chance to recover.

A note found in the apartment after Fredericks was rushed to the hospital said, "I just couldn't take it. Sur I told you I was ill, but it had to be done. I'm insane. Always, Bill."

Orange police had been staked out near the apartment most of the day yesterday after Fredericks was stopped on South Main for alleged speeding and found to be without operator's license and proper car registration. Los Angeles police informed the Orange officers the car had been "red" stolen.

JAYSEE VOTERS NAME STUDENT OFFICERS HERE

Al Pickhardt will be the Associated Student president of Santa Ana Junior college for the fall term of 1937-38. Students at the college yesterday elected by unanimous ballot in the primary elections.

Pickhardt's election on the primary ballot was one of the few times that this has happened in the history of the college. His opponent was Bob Wilde, freshman class president last semester; and Dick Geeting, president of the Junior Lions.

DEBATE EXPERT

The new president resides at 1002 North Main street and was graduated from Santa Ana high school with the class of 1936. At present, he is commissioner of forensics and assemblies at the college and was a member of the debate team that reached the Southern California finals. He is a member of the Buccaneers, junior college service club.

Virginia Sheppard was elected secretary of the Associated Students, defeating her lone opponent, Helen Warner, by a wide margin.

Carl Aubrey was the students' choice for the treasurer's post. His opponent was Bud Knoff.

In the vice president race, the two men candidates, Dave Phoenix and Lawrence Trickey, eliminated four women aspirants. They will enter the finals on Friday.

NEW ARRANGEMENTS

Five amendments to the college constitution passed with unanimous approval. By the new amendments, only one election for class officers will be held; editors of El Don and Del Ano along with the treasurer will receive rebates on their Associated Student tickets; and there shall be a commissioner of advertising on the executive board.

That the commissioner of forensics will be changed to commissioner of forensics and assemblies, and that the elective executive board officers will have power to appoint vacancies on the board were among other amendment provisions.

5,000 "Old Timers" Expected At Park For Annual Fete

More than 5000 "old timers" of Orange county including both present and former residents, are expected to assemble at Irvine park June 27 for the annual picnic of the Old Timers Association.

The yearly gathering of old friends and neighbors, which has grown to immense popularity and size since it was originated a few years ago, will draw guests from all parts of California and beyond its borders, according to County Clerk J. M. Backs, who is president of the Old Timers Association. Elmer B. Burns, of Santa Ana, is secretary.

A basket lunch will be held at noon. The association will furnish coffee, cream and sugar.

SUIT ON TRUST DEED IN COURT

Whether a $2121 trust deed upon certain Santa Ana property shall take precedence over a $2375 court judgment levied against the same property was a question submitted to superior court yesterday in a suit filed by Elizabeth Ingersoll, Alice A. Parker and the Orange County Title Company against Ivan R. Bean, Walter B. Baker, Mary V. Baker and Sheriff Logan Jackson.

The complaint states that Plaintiffs Ingersoll and Parker hold the $2121 trust deed against property of Mr. and Mrs. Baker, in the Ross tract. Subsequent to the execution of the trust deed, Defendant Bean recorded, in 1933, the court judgment against the Baker property. Sheriff Jackson levied against the property, for Bean, May 17, this year.

DUKE'S HONEYMOON CASTLE

VICAR'S WIFE TELLS EVENTS BEFORE RITES

LONDON, June 3.—(UP)—"My husband felt there was a principle at stake when he feels that way he doesn't care what happens—nobody can stop him," the white-haired wife of the Rev. R. Anderson Jardine said today of the man who performed the religious ceremony at the Duke of Windsor's wedding.

She told how for many weeks, up at his vicarage in Darlington, Jardine had worried over the official ban on the duke's wedding.

"He thought it a terrible thing," she said. "At least it seemed he could hear it no longer. A week ago today he wrote the duke, sent his best wishes for his happiness and offered, if the duke wanted a religious ceremony, to officiate."

"I don't believe he expected a reply. But he got one. A. G. Allen, the duke's lawyer, telegraphed Sunday. He said that the duke was most grateful and wanted a religious ceremony, and asked that my husband go to London to make arrangements."

"We dared not tell a soul. My husband did not ask his bishop's permission. I believe he would not have minded if he was made to leave the church. We sent the maids away, shut up our house, and came to London. My husband saw Mr. Allen at once, got his passport and left next day for Monte Carlo."

Jardine is a man who took up church work not as a career, but as a calling. He was reared an agnostic. At 19, a bookkeeper, he heard a sermon that brought his conversion. He began preaching in the streets of the slums in Liverpool and joined a Y. M. C. A. lodging house mission. His father disowned him. The son's retort was to go to a coal mining village in Yorkshire where the drabness, deepest poverty had caused the closing of every church around. He preached there, and at the end of a year was able to reopen the Wesleyan chapel. He went on to Liverpool and founded a free church, then became a missionary in the mine fields.

Friends persuaded him to enter the Church of England.

Couple Wed In Home Setting

GARDEN GROVE, June 3.—Miss Olive Mae Medlock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Dasher of Artesia, and Benjamin Howard Reeder, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Reeder, were united in marriage May 29 at 8:30 o'clock in the Reeder home on West Stanford avenue.

The wedding march was played by a cousin of the bridegroom, Mrs. Jerry Hunter of Norwalk, as the bride party took their place before a bower of greenery, entwined with pink and white carnations. Baskets of roses were other decorations. Dr. Charles F. Seitter, pastor of the First Methodist church, performed the ceremony.

The bride was lovely in a semi-formal gown of coral georgette with a corsage of gladioli and sweetpeas and a coral wreath of flowers in her hair. Her sister, Miss Elene Medlock, served as bride's maid, wearing yellow net in semi-formal lines and a corsage of orchid gladioli. Paul Reeder, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

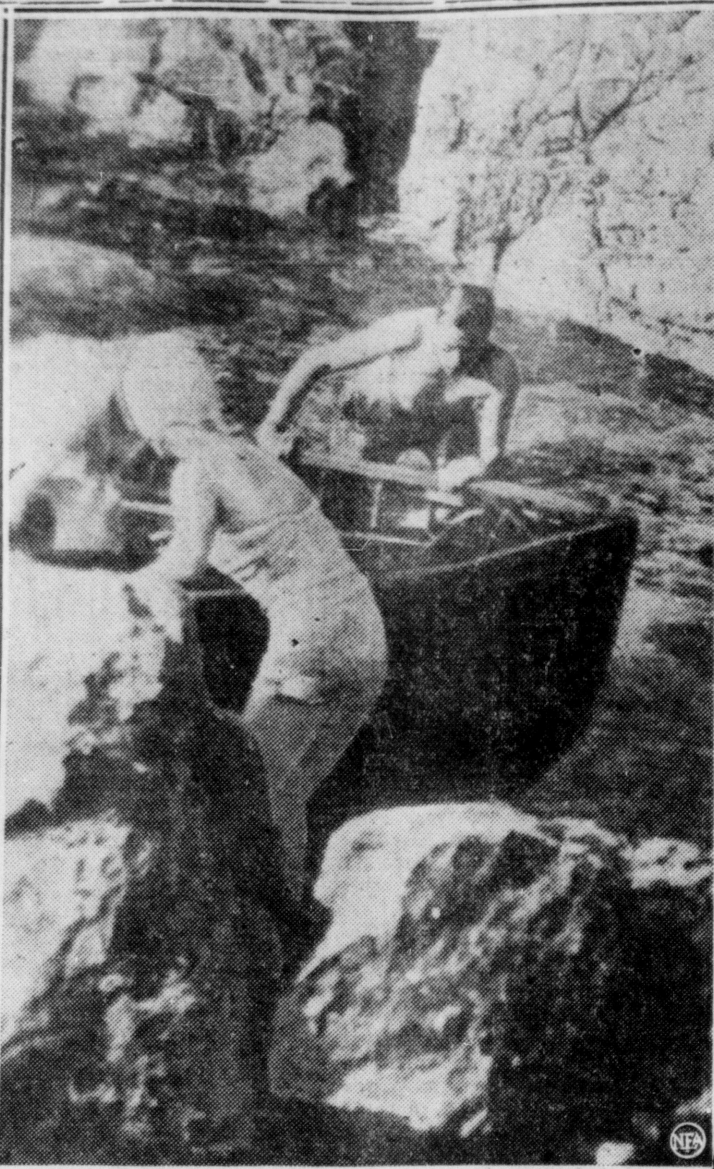

A reception following the ceremony was presided over by mothers of the young people. Mrs. Dasher was dressed in wine lace with a yellow corsage and Mrs. Reeder wore a blue print crepe with a corsage of white gladioli. Mrs. Alva Gedney, sister of the bridegroom, cut the wedding cake which was served with fruit punch.

After a honeymoon trip the couple will be at home to their friends on Seventh street, Garden Grove. Mr. Reeder graduated with the class of '32 from the local high school and is employed by the M.O.D. of Garden Grove. The bride was a member of the graduating class of '35 from the Excelsior high school.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Dasher of Artesia, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hunter of Norwalk, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Rush and children Jean and Donald of Taft, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reeder of Upland, Charles Booth and Miss Marion Griswold of Manhattan Beach, Mrs. Harvey Boyd, Mrs. H. ## KING AND 'WALLY' AT PLAY younger than the bride, five died shortly after marriage, leaving the widow large fortunes. These caused rumors that Anna had disposed of them with the devil's aid.

CASTLE READY FOR DUKE, BRIDE

WASSERLEONBURG, Austria, June 3.—(UP)—The 700-year-old Wasserleoburg castle, shining with new paint and weeks of scrubbing, was ready today for its royal honeymooners—the Duke and Duchess of Windsor.

The huge building, whose Gothic belfry dates back to the 13th century, was redecorated according to instructions of the Duke of Windsor.

All table and bed linens which were ordered six months ago in Paris had been delivered and included pale peach pillow slips and sheets, embroidered with the ducal crown. The swimming pool, which was expected to furnish the royal couple's chief recreation, was renovated with the greatest care.

Wasserleoburg is only five miles from the Italian border and faces the rough bare peaks of the Julian Alps. The rear view extends over the Gail valley, its green forests spotted with white villages. Immediately below the castle is the hamlet of Neotsch.

The castle walls were hung with nightmarish hunting trophies including mountain goats, deerheads, and the skins of lions, panthers, tigers and a crocodile. These were ordered removed from the royal suite by the duke.

According to local legend the castle is haunted by the ghost of "Sorceress Neumannin." (Anna Neumann, whose commoner father, Wilhelm, bought the castle from its impoverished barons in 1522.) Anna had six husbands, marrying the last one when she was 82 years old. Although all were

"WHEELBARROW," FELLOWSHIP AID, SOON TO BE AVAILABLE

Bound volumes of the "Wheelbarrow," official Rotary club publication for Orange county, will be available shortly after June 15, Ralph C. Smedley, editor and publisher, announced today.

The publication contains high-spirited true accounts of the lives of the club activities of the new president elects.

It was four years ago that the publication first made its appearance after the presidents of the six clubs met at the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. to plan closer cooperation between the respective units.

The Orange county council of Rotary International was the outgrowth of this meeting with "Sharp" Sharpley as its first chairman and Smedley as the first secretary.

The Wheelbarrow's initial issue was presented September 15, 1932, with Anaheim and Santa Ana dividing the space. The other Orange county clubs soon joined and presented news of interest to their respective club members.

Aids Friendships

"The joint publication of the Wheelbarrow has been definitely useful in promoting better understanding, a higher degree of cooperation, more friendship and far more effective work in Orange county Rotary," the editor said.

Three members of the Orange county clubs are en route to Nice, France, to represent the eight clubs at the international convention.

Colonel S. H. Finley of Santa Ana, Sam Bowen of Huntington Beach, and Nels Edwards of Orange, are making the trip. They are to cooperate with local stamp collectors by sending commemorative stamps issued in honor of the conclave.

TAKE WEIGHT OFF TIRED FEET

Lose Fat The Easy Way—Without Starvation Diets, or Back-Breaking, Bending and Rolling Exercises.

If your feet and ankles feel tired and ache all over—because you are carrying too much fat—do something about it. Try the treatment that has helped millions to reduce excess weight.

There's a reason why so many people find dieting slow and often times futile in reducing. The reason, doctors say, is often because a little gland is not working right. All the blood in your body goes through this tiny gland sixteen times every day. If it doesn't pour into the blood stream about one and one-half drops of vital fluid every 24 hours, many people take on ugly fat. This fluid helps Nature to "burn up" excess food and fatty tissue in much the same way as a good "draft" acts in a furnace.

New physicians combat this condition by feeding this gland the substance it lacks—and millions of pounds of excess fat has been wiped out in this way. Marmola Prescription Tablets are based on the same method used by doctors. So don't waste your time or money striving to reduce with starvation diets or back-breaking exercises. Start the Marmola treatment today that millions have used successfully to get rid of excess fat. The formula is in every box so you know just what you are taking. Don't wait—get a box of Marmola today from your druggist.

Diego and San Francisco," it was learned in naval quarters here. On sick leave, as he recovers from a broken leg sustained in November, Comdr. Spencer has allowed few, if any, of his friends know the location of his retreat. Only once since the romance of Wallis Warfield and the Duke of Windsor attracted world-wide attention has the naval officer broken his silence concerning the Baltimore girl who was his first wife.

That was a few days after he was carried to the naval hospital here suffering from a broken leg sustained in a hunting accident—the same injury from which he now is convalescing.

At that time Commander Spencer, then executive officer on the aircraft carrier U. S. S. Ranger, said the duchess "is one of the finest women I have ever known. She has one of the strongest characters of any women I ever has been my pleasure to meet. I hold nothing against her and I wish her nothing but the best the world has to offer."

BEAUTY BATHS AID PRIZE HOGS

FOND DU LAC, Wis. (UP)—A little knowledge about beauty culture has aided Lester and Louis Dyer, Fond Du Lac county youths, in making a success of raising Poland China hogs.

Since 1931, when their father, Eugene Dyer, a farmer, gave them two pigs, the boys have made $1,000 through application of scientific methods in breeding show animals. They have won 150 state and county fair ribbons, 90 of them for first places.

Frequent baths with tar soap and a scrub brush make better hogs, they say. Twice a month during the summer their prize animals must be placed in a small crate and bathed. Before the fairs and livestock shows* open, the animals receive five weekly scrubbings with olive oil to make them appear well-groomed and sleek.

Lester, a high school sophomore, plans to enter 22 animals in 7 county fairs, the state fair and the Mississippi Valley fair at Davenport, Ia., this summer. Louis, two years older than Lester, proudly exhibits two trophies he has won, merchandise prizes and one of 10 honor achievement pins presented by the state.

Together the youths have raised 200 hogs from the original two their father gave them and four

DRESS WORN BY DUKE'S BRIDE IS DESCRIBED

By MARY FENTRESS

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
MONTS, France, June 3.—(UP)—To millions of women throughout the world today a question of equal importance to the marriage of the daughter of a Baltimore boarding house keeper to the former king-emperor of the British empire, was what the bride wore.

For her wedding, the Duchess of Windsor wore a long skirted cocktail dress of "Wallis Blue" crepe, a color between pastel and hyacinth blue that exactly matches her eyes. It was created for her by the Paris dressmaker, Mainbocher, and is the key color of her trousseau of 80 dresses and 40 hats.

Her wedding dress was floor length, had a high, draped neckline, and was worn with a fitted, long sleeved jacket of the same color. The jacket was slightly shirred at the shoulders to give fullness and was shirred in a band at the high neck and also at the waist to give fullness to the bodice. It fastened with a series of small, crepe covered buttons.

She wore wrist length gloves of the same color and material. Her small, high heeled open work sandals also were of "Wallis Blue."

Her hat, designed by Caroline Reboux of Paris, was a tiny skull cap of "Wallis Blue" straw with a turned back halo trim of blue tulle. There was a bandeau of blue and pale pink ostrich feathers drawn snugly against her dark hair at the base of the tulle halo.

The Duke, Major Edward D. Metcalfe, his best man, and Herman Livingston Rogers, who gave the bride away, wore formal morning clothes. With his black cutaway and black waistcoat, the Duke wore gray striped trousers. His white shirt had a stiff wing collar partly hidden by a gray Ascot tie ornamented with a pearl stickpin. He had a boutonniere of white flowers.

Mrs. Charles Bedeaux, wife of the owner of the chateau, who is a native of Grand Rapids, Mich., wore a sober grey-blue, half silk, half lace gown, that contrasted harmoniously with the Duchess' gown. The Baroness Rothschild, the Duke's hostess in Austria after he abdicated his throne and left England, wore a white crepe gown with black printed flowers and a black taffeta coat, the creation of the Paris dressmaker, Molyneux.

CALLING all DOGS

By Albert Payson Terhune

THE FRIENDSHIP'S BEGINNINGS

All kinds of guesses have been made, to explain how the dog, alone of all animals, chose willingly to serve and to guard and to love man. One guess is as good as another, perhaps. Here is my own idea of the friendship's beginnings, a theory shared by much wiser men than I.

In the earliest days of mankind, there was no way of preserving meat. Thus, life usually was a feast or a famine. I have an idea that some cavemen, during a lush food season, caught wild puppies and kept them alive until the starvation months of winter should set in. The man discovered meanwhile, not only that the pups were good chums for his children, but that they were useful in sounding the alarm when some possible enemy neared the cave and that they were still more valuable in scenting and tracking wild animals for their master's food. In short, they proved themselves much more valuable, alive, than as items on the caveman's bill of fare.

At any rate, the bones of domesticated dogs are found by scientists in such caves, close to the bones of the earliest humans. If you have a better theory to account for the beginning of the man-dog chumship, won't you write it to me?

SLAVERY TO BE DRAMATIC PART IN PLAY HERE

The ancient custom of beautiful Greek maidens captured and held in slavery, of sacrificing their own lives rather than face the dreadful fate that often confronted them, forms a dramatic part of the play, "The Rich Young Man," which will be presented by the Inter-Church Players under auspices of the Santa Ana Ministerial Association at the high school auditorium Sunday evening.

Makaria, the Athenian slave of Rabbi Amos, who has been placed in the home of his betrothed, Bernice, dares to carry out the vow of all her house, but is unsuccessful in her act, and is accused of trying to poison the beautiful Bernice.

When the overseer of slaves in the house of Rabbi Amos, father of Bernice, is ordered to whip the slave girl, Makaria escapes and goes to the garden of Rabbi Amos for protection. The mob follows, crying, "Stone her! Stone her! She hath tried to poison the noble Bernice."

When questioned by Rabbi Amos as to her motive, she denies her intent to harm Bernice, but confesses her attempt upon her own life, which had become so unbearable.

"I did purpose to fulfill the vow of every man and woman of our house, even from heroic days," she said. "No longer could I live nobly, and I did resolve to die bravely."

Players from various churches of the city make up the cast, which is directed by Estelle Card Beeman.

Musical will be furnished by Elwood Bear and his orchestra. The performance starts at 8 p. m.

DIPLOMAS AWARDED BY NAVAL ACADEMY

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 3.—(UP)—The United States Naval Academy today awarded diplomas and bachelor of science degrees to 319 midshipmen at its 51st graduation exercises.

The armory, largest building of its kind in the world, was packed to capacity at the ceremony climaxing a colorful "June week." Rear Admiral David Foote Sellers, academy superintendent, handed out the diplomas and Rear Admiral Adolphus Andrews, chief of naval operations, delivered the graduation address as a representative of President Roosevelt.

Teamsters And Freight Lines Settle Dispute

A 60-day labor war between the Teamsters' union and the Pacific Freight Lines was settled today, D. W. Kelsey, local agent for the transportation company announced this morning. Complete resumption of daily service from and to all California points, including the Los Angeles harbor and San Francisco bay districts, began this morning.

"The strike at Pacific Freight Lines and Pacific Tank Lines has been terminated," said a joint statement signed by President George M. Duntley of the lines and Secretary George A. Shultz of the union. "A mutually satisfactory settlement has been arrived at, the details to be worked out later."

Neither Duntley nor his partner, Frank Daugherty, would amplify the statement. San Francisco officials sent word, however, that "Los Angeles officials of the lines capitulated to union demands for recognition."

Out of 150 employees of the lines, which operate into Texas and Arizona, it was reported 130 went on strike.

RESIGNS FROM BOARD

Townsend Topics

By W. F. Rockwell

(Editor's Note: The comment and opinions of W. F. Rockwell, as appearing in this column are not necessarily those of The Register.)

Thoughts. Words. Acts. What a lot of talk we hear, criticizing the words or acts of others. The listener weighs what he hears, and silently or verbally agrees, or disagrees. The effect is felt, which may change the direction of thought or action. When this writer was a little boy he attended an entertainment where "pieces" were spoken. The only thing remembered—never forgotten—is the last line of every verse of a poem never since heard: "For people will talk." Some talk is very tiresome and valueless to the listener. Other talk is invigorating and helpful.

When we hear anyone criticizing Dr. Townsend we get nothing from such talk. And the critic could never reap results claimed for his ideas. True-blooded, sound, sane, dependable Townsends are staunch and faithful. You can always tell where they stand. The weak, vacillating "turncoats" are of no benefit to themselves or to anyone else. They hinder others and keep themselves always in the rear, unable to really accomplish profitable results.

There is not one critic in all America who can "hold a candle" to the inspired genius of Dr. Townsend in this great, momentous, humanitarian movement, for the highest and best welfare of each and every citizen of our beloved land. Quoting from a letter from C. A. Darr, of Mildred, Kan., to Townsend National Weekly: "I have heard some people who are ardent supporters of the Townsend Plan make remarks that will result in turning others away from it. I have heard people say:

"The Townsend Plan is the best thing for the country that could ever happen and for helping the unemployment situation, etc." and then add, "but I'm afraid we're not going to get it" or "I'm afraid it's a long way off yet." When you talk in that half-hearted way, the person who hears you is going to say to himself: "Well, if you do not believe in it any stronger than that, I guess there isn't much to it," and you have turned someone against it who was just at the point of being converted to it. Don't be a half way Townsendite; go all the way, all the time. Remember, "The Townsend Plan Must Succeed."

One of the most perfect examples of a true Townsendite in Santa Ana is Mr. John Hoge, member of club 6. No one ever hears a discouraging word from his lips. If every "Townsends" were like him the movement would grow by leaps and bounds.

Townsend club No. 10 will hold its regular meeting Friday, June 4, 7:30 p. m., at 602 East 6th St., on S. E. corner of 6th and Minter streets. Papers are not signed yet for the permanent meeting place. R. E. Marks.

H. G. Wilcox, who worked with Arthur L. Johnson in Washington, D. C. on the "General Welfare Act of 1937" will be the guest speaker at Club 1 in Orange, Monday, June 7th in the Townsend Hall on South Glassell street. This will no doubt be well worth hearing.

Club No. 3 will meet tonight at 509 West 4th street. Mr. Zimmerman will be the speaker.

Townsend club No. 7 will meet Friday evening, 7:30 in Christian church, corner Orange avenue and McFadden street. It is requested that all members of the board be present. Important business on hand.

newspapers and make up the gaps with original field work.

Lag Behind Current Events

The colleges really ought to catch up with current events. The Columbia Encyclopedia rather underlines its ignorance of the existence of John L. Lewis by devoting a brief note to William Green. "As president of the American Federation of Labor," it says, "he was criticized for lack of aggression. He was quick, however, to take advantage of NRA provisions concerning labor and greatly strengthened the federation as a result."

The learned gentleman who wrote that will have to go to the foot of the class, because Bill Green never has been numbered among the quick, and the increase in the federation membership under NRA consisted very largely of the recruits whom Lewis took into the United Mine Workers.

Higher education in America ought to sweep down low enough to make itself aware of those things which happen day by day upon the surface of the earth and in the tunnels under the earth.

Former Chorus Man Loses Suit

NEW YORK, June 3.—(UP)—Chester Leo O'Brien, former chorus man, who married the star of his show, will get no money from the estate of the late Marilyn Miller under terms of a ruling handed down yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Bernard L. Scheintag.

Justice Scheintag ruled that O'Brien had no claim on a $64,000 trust fund left by the actress and said that whatever claim he might have to her general estate was "purely academic," inasmuch as its liabilities exceeded its assets.

O'Brien, who married Miss Miller October 1, 1934, had sued for a share of her estate, including the trust fund, on the grounds that he was her legal heir.

Police News

Police today are looking for a car, believed to be a green Dodge roadster, which collided with a car belonging to Merchant Policeman E. C. Heard last night. Heard's car was parked in front of the city hall at the time of the accident.

H. E. Chapman, caretaker of the municipal bowl, called police to report a bicycle abandoned at the bowl yesterday. The "bike" answers the description of one stolen from Richard Thompson, 730 North Grand street, police said.

Mrs. A. P. Isenor, 935 West Camille, called to report a suspicious car in her neighborhood last night. Officers C. V. Adams and J. W. Foster investigated and found that the man was "looking for his girl friend."

Illegal parkers were well ahead of the field in yesterday's police ticket awarding with a total of six. Two speeders, two intoxicated persons, and two boulevard stop jumpers completed the list.

Cockroaches

To banish these pests in a hurry, just sprinkle BUAACH across their trails (following them to their burrows if possible), and in cracks and crevices. BUAACH makes short work of insect pests though it is guaranteed safe for human beings and animals. In Handy Sifter Can 25c up at all Drug, Grocery, and Store, Pet Shops.

SPEEDING? OH, OFFICER, IT CAN'T BE TRUE

"Speeding? I never passed a car. I work for a 'big shot' in San Diego and I can drive the way I want to down there," said Clarence Mortensen, 24, as he protested against a ticket, written by Officer William Nielsen yesterday.

Nielsen laconically remarked, "Tell it to the Judge." Mortensen later entered a formal plea of "not guilty" in City Judge J. G. Mitchell's court and waived jury trial. The trial is set for June 9 at 10 a. m.

The following persons were fined by Judge Mitchell yesterday. For speeding: Noble Alego, El Monte, $8; Stanton Wyatt, Los Angeles, $12 (and $5 for failure to appear in court); Gerald L. Stout, Fresno, $10 (and $2 for failure to appear); Albert Vandawalker, Route 3, Santa Ana, $6; James E. Wiley, Anaheim, $8; Henry Ratican, Los Angeles, $12; Robert H. Guild, 312 Hickory, $6; Leonard Egeert, Anaheim, $10; George M. Aposhian, Chula Vista, $8. Four boulevard stopped jumpers were each fined $2 and one illegal parker, $1.

ESTABLISH NEW HOME

FULLERTON, June 3.—Mr. and Mrs. John Snideman of East Truslow street left today for their new home in Hemet where they will enter the poultry business. Before leaving the Snidemans were honored by their friends and neighbors with a farewell party.

A large potter's bowl was the farewell gift given to the people. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis and daughter, Charlene, Mr. and Mrs. F. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Riley Mangle and children Barbara and Bobby; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Burdoff and son, Billy; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bradley and other daughters, Caroline and Colleen and Mr. P. A. Snideman, uncle of the honored couple.

Oddities In Today's News Items

SOFIA, Bulgaria, June 3.—(UP)—The constant cawing of thousands of crows in the park across the street from the royal palace finally became a nuisance today.

They were sacrificed—killed by poisoning—as a prelude to the second confinement of Queen Giovanna.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 3.—(UP)—The odds for gain were 50 times more favorable to Kansas slot machine players today. The new two mill sales tax tokens work in the dime machines. A supply of 20,000,000 tokens were exhausted in one day and 5,000,000 more the next. Most gambling machines were chock full of tokens now and were paying them off on "hits". Operators of cigaret vending machines, whose wares also were illegal in Kansas only a few years ago, raised a legitimate protest.

"Well," Gov. Walter Huxman replied, "we can't call back 25,000,000 tokens."

OSHKOSH, Wis., June 3.—(UP)—The fish rode in a boat and the fisherman swam. Harry Mitchell and Robert Kramer, both 14, explained that when the 12-2 pound carp jumped out of Lake Winnebago into their boat they jumped out of the boat into the lake.

JOPLIN, Mo., June 3.—(UP)—J. J. Thurstman, 84, suffered from leg bruises today as the result of an attempt to hang himself. First he climbed into a tree, from which a neighbor rescued him. Then he tied one end of a rope around his neck and jumped into an 8-foot pit at an abandoned mill site. He landed at the bottom and was hauled up by firemen. He had failed to tie the other end of his rope to anything.

CLEVELAND, June 3.—(UP)—It was a queer looking "dog", thought Fire Lieut. Paul Hartz, that ambled into the engine house and lay down under a fire truck. So thought several passersby, too—a bushy tail, big ears and wild yellow eyes. They thought it might have rabies, called Henry L. Leftingwell, head of the Animal Protective league. Came meanwhile James Bartunek, of "hook and ladder number 10," to identify it as an ordinary red fox, weary with the woods.

CLEVELAND, June 3.—Two questions asked by Berlin "exchange" students, part of whose education was to see a big league baseball game: "Why can't we get a baseball? That man in the box kept one? What does 'B. O.' on that soap sign mean?"

ASHEN WILL BE HONORED HERE

Plans for a banquet and reception to honor Clyde H. Ashen, recently elected State Deputy of the Knights of Columbus, were revealed here today by officers of the Santa Ana Council.

George F. Nash, past grand knight of the Santa Ana Council is in charge of arrangements as general chairman of the affair. The banquet and reception honoring Ashen on his elevation to the highest post in the state organization will be held at 6:30 p. m., June 15, in American Legion hall. Nash said the public is invited.

Members of the reception committee who will assist Nash are: Dr. V. A. Rossiter, George F. Ravenkamp, Charles W. Wolford, Edward W. Haffner, E. J. Voss-Kuhler, Tom Giesler, J. Riley Huber, Anthony Kneip, Ray Whitten, Edward Kolbe, Robert Sandon, Walter Markel and P. C. Dietler.

Nash said today that prominent speakers from Southern California will be on the program and that many state officers of the order will be among the honored guests. Dr. Rossiter will act as toastmaster and Mayor Fred Rowland will deliver the address of welcome.

Plans for the affair will be completed tonight at the meeting of the Santa Ana Council. The program will be announced following the meeting, Nash said.

Officers for the coming year also will be elected at tonight's meeting of the organization.

Y. W. HEAD TELLS OF RADIO PROGRAM

"The Pros and Cons of Working Wives" will be the subject in a "round table" talk on the NBC Red Network at 6 p. m. today, Miss Mary Howard, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A., announced. The program is sponsored by the Women's Press, national publication for the association.

Five women and one man, all national figures in the problem of "working wives", will make up the "round table". The speakers are: Dr. Janet Fowler Nelson, author of "Working Wives"; Dr. Henry Pratt Fairchild, of the graduate school of New York University; Miss Chari C. Williams, president of the National Business and Professional Women; Mrs. Margaret Cuklin Banning, popular authoress of "Letters to Susan" and other stories; Dr. Helen Thompson, assistant professor, Clinic of Child Development at Yale University, and Mrs. Betty Gram Swing, well known newspaper woman.

1,161 Get Jobs Through Service

During the past month the National Reemployment Service in Orange county has placed 1161 persons in employment, it was reported today by Charles Fallert, Orange county manager for NRA.

All types of employment were included in the list for which NRA furnished men and women during the month, Fallert said. A large portion of the number placed were sent into private employment.

Fallert emphasized that the National Reemployment Service is not a relief organization, but a job-finding agency, placing workers on all kinds of public and private jobs.

STEEL BED SHEETS

Three bed sheets were the "limit" of loot taken by burglars who entered the home of T. Chiguchol, Crystal Cove, yesterday, ransacking it.

TO HONOR THREE AT GRADUATION

I WOULD NOT BE A KING

The philosophy of men throughout history who, like England's one-time King Edward VIII, have turned their backs on power and greatness, may be found in the following lines from Shelley's "I Would Not Be a King":

I would not be a King — enough
Of woe it is to love;
The path to power is steep and rough,
And tempests reign above.
I would not climb the imperial throne;
'Tis built on ice which fortune's sun
Thaws in the height of noon.

COUPLE SENTENCED ON MURDER CHARGE

JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 3.—(UP)—Glady's MacKnight, 17, and her former sweetheart, Donald Wightman, 19, were sentenced today to prison terms of not less than 29 years and not more than 30. They were convicted of the second degree murder of Miss MacKnight's mother, Mrs. Helen MacKnight, last July 31.

The couple was sentenced to "hard labor at the state prison in Trenton."

Neither displayed emotion when Judge Thomas F. Meaney pronounced sentence.

Wightman, as he left the courtroom, smiled at his mother and father but they only stared at him.

When they were brought into the courtroom, each glanced at the other. Neither spoke.

Avocado Growers Convene Monday

Orange County Avocado growers will hold a special dinner meeting at the Farm Bureau hall at 6:30 p. m. Monday with Dr. J. R. Condit, of the University of California as the main speaker.

Dr. Condit will present an illustrated talk on subtropical fruit observations in Hawaii and the Orient.

Harold E. Wahlberg of the Agricultural Extension service will discuss the treatment of avocado trees relative to pruning following the frost.

Reservations should be made before Saturday, Roland D. Flaherty, executive chairman of the bureau, said.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

DONATI'S COMET
WAS BELIEVED, BY THE PEOPLE OF FRANCE, TO HAVE BEEN RESPONSIBLE FOR THE RARE FLAVOR OF THE FRENCH WINES PRODUCED IN 1858.

EVEN TODAY, SOME OF THE "COMET WINES" STILL ARE IN EXISTENCE, AND ARE USED ONLY ON SPECIAL OCCASIONS.

IN THE EARLY DAYS, A MUSHROOM GROWING NEAR A DEN OF SNAKES WAS CONSIDERED POISONOUS.

PLINY seems to have been responsible for a belief that exists, even up to today, that rusty iron, rotten cloth, or other "noxious objects" in the soil will produce poisonous mushrooms. Equally erroneous is the belief that a bright coin, dropped in a stew of mushrooms, will turn black if the plants are poisonous, but will remain bright if the species be edible.

FRANK HARWOOD ELECTED HEAD OF LIONS CLUB

Santa Ana Lions today chose Frank Harwood to fill the office of club president at the annual election held during the noon meeting of the group in Masonic Temple. Harwood, well known in Santa Ana, postmaster and political leader, will replace Rolla Hays, Jr., in office.

Other officers elected to serve under the new regime are as follows: first vice president, Carl Stein; second vice president, Ira Kroese; third vice president, H. L. Manker; secretary, John A. Anderson; treasurer, John McCarty; chaplain, Rev. Perry F. Schrock; tail twister, Nolan Doss; Lion Tamer, Bob Farrar; directors, Dale Decker and Charles Pritchard.

Installation of the new officers will take place at the club's annual banquet next Thursday at the Santa Ana Country Club. Arrangements for the affair are under the supervision of Lyle Anderson. Wives of Lions will be guests of the club at the banquet.

At today's meeting, two new members were inducted into the club, with W. K. Hillyard officiating. The new members are Josh Wilson and Charles Fallert. C. W. Hill, chairman of the attendance committee, presented pins to 40 members whose records of attendance during the past few months was 100 per cent. Earl Abbey acted as program chairman of the day.

PAPER CLOSED BY WORKERS' STRIKE

BELLINGHAM, Wash., June 3.—(UP)—The Bellingham Evening News closed today when its editorial workers went on strike. Members of the American Newspaper guild, the strikers asked for $40 per week for experienced men, $32.50 per week for men with less than three years' service, a five-day week and two weeks' vacation or pay.

The News was the second paper in the state to be closed by a guild strike. The Seattle Post-Intelligencer, morning daily owned by William Randolph Hearst, was closed for three months last autumn by a strike of editorial workers affiliated with the guild.

School Workers Enjoy Picnic

OCEANVIEW, June 3.—Carrying out the friendly spirit which is maintained between members of Oceanview school board, members of the school faculty and others employed of the school district, trustees and their wives acted as hosts at a picnic party at Irvine park. A steak bake was first on the evening's program and sports entertained after dinner.

Included in the party were: Mr. and Mrs. John H. Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. William Leedle, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Payne, Mr. and Mrs. H. Moulton, Miss Helen Schoeneberg, Miss Phyllis Jamison, Miss Genevieve White, Miss Ruth Spencer, Miss Edith Spencer, Miss Beatrice Brockman, Roscoe Bradbury, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Letson, Roy Fox, Ralph Clay, Mrs. Clarissa Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. Whitaker, and the host group, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Heil, Mr. and Mrs. Pyrie Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Worthy.

Complete Plans For Carnival

BUENA PARK, June 3.—Final plans for the carnival scheduled for next week will be made at the meeting of the American Legion post tomorrow evening at Memorial hall, according to Commander Fred Wieler. June 11 has been designated as Legion day, and invitations to attend the affair have been sent to the various posts throughout the county.

I. D. Jaynes, in charge of the sale of fireworks, will also continue details for this annual project of the post.

Miss Zoe Jackson, poppy day chairman for the auxiliary, has expressed appreciation of the cooperation of the community in the recent Poppy day sale.

CLUB LEADER

Postmaster Frank Harwood, who was today elected president of the Santa Ana Lions club. He, with other officers, will be installed at the club's annual banquet next week.

EX-PLAYMATE OF BAER GETS DECREE

LOS ANGELES, June 3.—(UP)—Mary Kirk Brown Seymour, one time playmate of Maxie Baer, former heavyweight champion, today was granted a divorce from William Seymour, wealthy jeweler, on charges of extreme cruelty.

Seymour, although not a pugilist by profession, blackened her eye with a hard right, Mrs. Seymour testified.

The eye-blackening episode occurred several months ago after they had visited a Hollywood restaurant, she said.

Mrs. Seymour suggested she drive home from the restaurant but her husband did not think that was a good idea.

Asked by Judge Charles E. Haas why she felt she should drive, Mrs. Seymour said:

"Because I did not think he was in condition to drive."

VICAR DECIDES NOT TO WRITE ARTICLE

TOURS, France, June 3.—(UP)—The Rev. Robert Anderson Jardine, who performed the religious ceremony at the Duke of Windsor's wedding, planned late today to write an account of the ceremony for the press.

When the duke heard of it, he sent word to the Rev. Mr. Jardine:

"If you write this story, you lose my friendship."

The clergyman decided not to write it.

TWO ITINERANTS KILLED IN WRECK

FALLON, Nev., June 3.—(UP)—Two itinerants, a man and a woman, were killed early today when 15 freight cars of a Southern Pacific train were derailed and wrecked at Massie, five miles east of the Hazen junction.

Wreckage on the single track line tied up main line Southern Pacific traffic across Nevada.

SALARIES RAISED

GARDEN GROVE, June 3.—Members of the grammar school board of trustees increased salaries of teachers in the Garden Grove grammar school $50 for the school year. With this increase the minimum wage totals $3300 and the maximum $1500. The purchase of a new school bus was postponed until further investigation of various busses can be made. The board met at the Washington school on Tuesday.

SUSPEND ENLISTMENTS

WASHINGTON, June 3.—(UP)—The war department has suspended all new enlistments for the American army until further notice, it was learned today. The suspension was attributed to the fact that the army is now virtually at the full strength provided by congress.

LATE ENTRIES IN HORSE SHOW ADD TO ZEST

Two of the outstanding stables of Southern California are among the late entries in the horse show to be held at the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl, next Saturday, according to Mrs. C. Mortimer Plum of the Santa Ana unit, Assistance League of Southern California, sponsors of the affair.

The late entries referred to were horses from the Thomas Meany and Crabtree stables, both of San Diego. Mrs. Plum said that the Meany stables, owners of horses that have won prizes in shows throughout the state, have entered horses in the five-gaited and three-gaited classes, the ladies three-gaited, ladies three-gaited pairs and ladies three-gaited open classes.

In Polo Class

From the Crabtree stables Virginia Crabtree has entered horses in the children's horsemanship class, hunters open, hunters touch-and-go and musical chairs events. Hodge Crabtree has entered horses in the polo class.

Among other late entries announced today is Alleghandro, owned by Mrs. Arthur Shipkey of Anaheim, in the three-gaited class for Orange county owned horses.

Mrs. Plum also announced that Eldon Frock, well-known polo player and horseman, will be the judge and referee in the polo game that is to be played during the afternoon session of the show.

In the ladies stock horse class Louise Moulton will ride Nona, the beautiful palomina horse owned by Mrs. Vincent Yorba; Katherine Hertzog will ride Arizona and Mrs. Juanita Atwood of Santa Ana will also have an entry. Tiny Yorba Wade of Capistrano Beach will ride Gigolo.

In Competition

In the competition for the $100 Irvine stake Bill Goodwin will ride Mrs. Yorba's Nona.

Other well-known horsemen will show the following mounts during the afternoon and evening shows: Charles Raggsdale, Riviera Club, El Trojan; three horses owned by Mrs. Harold Morton, Los Angeles. Morton horses to be shown include California Sunshine, Red Robin, and Noble's Grace.

Joe Blackwell will ride his horse Pal O'Mine in the hunters' touch-and-go and polo classes. Lynn Morton will ride Noble's Grace in the three-gaited class.

It was announced today that Clint Brush, horse trainer from Huntington Beach will bring his educated horse Serrana to Santa Ana tomorrow for an exhibition in the interest of the horse show. Brush will put Serrana through his paces at 2 p. m. on the parking lot adjoining the Pay-Less Market on South Sycamore street.

AMERICAN FLIER IN DUTCH GUIANA

PARAMARIBO, Dutch Guiana, June 3.—(UP)—Amelia Earhart landed here today at 12:50 p. m. E. D. T., after a flight from Caripito, Venezuela, on her trip around the world.

CHARGE RUSSIANS BOMBED BATTLESHIP

BERLIN, June 3.—(UP)—All Berlin afternoon papers printed on their front pages today a report published in the Paris Grand soire that the German battleship Deutschland, bombed at Iviza in the Balearic Islands last Saturday, was attacked by Soviet planes under direct instructions from Moscow.

Deputy Sheriffs Are "Watchdogs"

Two deputy sheriffs literally were "the watchdogs" of the county last night. J. J. Lakey, of Stanton and Commonwealth roads, west of Fullerton, called the sheriff's office yesterday to report that his watchdog had been killed. He wanted the deputies to "keep an eye" on his service station. Deputy Sheriffs Harvey Gulick and Steve Duhart answered the call and checked the locality for Lakey.

Constructive WPA Projects Praised

Approval of the highly constructive type of projects sponsored under WPA in Orange county, was expressed by Ralph G. Wadsworth, deputy state administrator of WPA, who was in Orange county yesterday from San Francisco headquarters.

Wadsworth noted that local projects were not of the leaf-raking type, but really useful in purpose, and complimented the Orange county organization and project sponsors on the fact.

PARKING METERS FOR LAGUNA? COUNCIL PLANS TO EXPERIMENT

LAGUNA BEACH, June 3.—In a session lasting well past midnight, the Laguna Beach City Council took care of a crowded calendar of activities ranging from parking meters to sewers, electric signs to police badges, loudspeakers and recreation plans, and private patrol systems. Full attendance of councilmen, crowds of spectators, and, outside, a fine crop of spring frogs in full Aristophanic chorus, completed a pleasing ensemble.

Following disposal of many routine communications, the question of installation of parking meters was taken up, and, at this point, an unanimous petition signed by Forest Avenue merchants and property owners was filed, protesting against any of the meters on their street, the principal city business artery. Later, City Attorney Milburn G. Harvey was instructed, on vote of the council, to prepare specifications, bids, and the draft of an ordinance, under which, for a trial period, parking meters may be installed on Coast boulevard South from Broadway to near Legion Street, and half of Ocean Avenue, both sides, midway to Beach. Representatives of several meter factories and distributors were present, but were not called upon to amplify offerings already made by mail. Forest Avenue gets no meters, for awhile at least.

Another petition, signed by a large number of property owners on Coast Boulevard North, McKnight's addition, and adjacent territory, requested action looking towards construction of sanitary sewers, to link up with the balance of the sewer system enjoyed by other portions of the city. A special meeting of council, in committee of the whole, will be next Tuesday, at which time, in conference with City Engineer Arthur Stead and Milburn G. Harvey, city attorney, preparatory steps will be taken, progress to be reported at the next regular council meeting, a fortnight hence.

In line with the movement under way, looking towards acquisition by the city of certain property on Park Avenue and on First Street, favorable preliminary action was taken upon a proposal submitted by the Laguna Beach Library trustees, that, by assuming an existing mortgage of $12,250, the city will be given a deed to the library property and building. Inasmuch as the city now pays $3000 annually towards the library's upkeep, it was pointed out that the purchase, if consummated, would virtually amortize itself in four years or so. With the city already in possession of the property occupied by the chamber of commerce; and with only one lot in private ownership, separating that property from the library, the council decided to take necessary steps to acquire the library property; and, accordingly, attorney Harvey was authorized to make inspection of the title to the land, this to be reported back at next meeting.

The new officers were presented with corsages. The meeting opened with a short business session at which time reports were made. The hostess committee included Mrs. Lily Strain Frank, Mrs. Ralph Irwin, Mrs. Angus McAulay, Mrs. Edward J. Power and Mrs. A. M. Christensen. Refreshments were served during the social hour.

The following officers were installed by Mrs. Edwards: Miss Emily Cuff, president; Mrs. George Lilly, first vice-president; Mrs. Lily Strain Frank, second vice-president; Mrs. A. M. Christensen, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert M. Seaman, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Louis Jacobsen, financial secretary; Mrs. C. A. Cuff, critic; Mrs. J. A. Nemo, historian; Mrs. Arthur Staley, parliamentarian; and Mrs. J. T. Johndrow, auditor.

Bert Harris New 20-30 President

FULLERTON, June 3.—Bert Harris was elected president of the 20-30 club at the dinner session of the group last evening at Kibel's cafe. Other new officers are Hal Polley, vice president; and Russell Sweet, sergeant-at-arms. Committee appointments will be announced later by the president-elect.

Elected to the executive board for terms of one year were Donald Wiese and Howard Maxwell, with Everis Nelson and Chauncey Orton for six months terms. Harold Hemmer, a hold over member of the board, will serve for another six months.

Officers for the new year will be installed at the meeting of June 30.

Senior Hi-Y Names President

ANAHEIM, June 3.—Senior Hi-Y members named Bob Elliott president when they met at a beach party at Corona Del Mar last evening. Other officers named include George Fowler, vice-president; Willard Adams, secretary; Bob Smith, treasurer; and Duncan Wimpless, sergeant-at-arms.

The boys enjoyed a swim, followed by a feast of hot dogs, salad and ice cream, returning home at 8 o'clock. In charge of the food was Keith Beebe while arranging the transportation was Kenneth Harris. John Alden was chairman of the nominating committee and Joe Burden is retiring president.

Summer Camp Is Planned By Group

LA HABRA, June 3.—Orange county women, especially those in touch with any branch of the Farm Bureau, are eagerly planning for their annual summer camp, which will be open from June 27th through July 1st. Camp Bethel, has again been selected this year. It is a very lovely spot to hold camp and is close, being located in San Dimas canyon.

Those who attended the camp last year report this to be an ideal location with many activities. Craft work will be taught for those who wish it. The cost of the five days is very nominal and the camp is open to all women of the farm bureau and their friends.

DE MOLAYS AND JOB'S ORDER MEET TONIGHT

Mary Crowe will be installed as Honored Queen of Santa Ana Bethel, Order of Job's Daughters and Hans Bergsetter will be seated as Master Councilor. Santa Ana chapter Order of DeMolay in a joint installation ceremony to be held at 8:15 tonight in Masonic Temple. Charlotte McCausland and Abe Bergsetter will serve as installing officers.

WOMAN ARRESTED IN ASSAULT CASE

On complaint of Ruth Handley, wife of Walter Handley, 810 East Second, now serving six months in county jail after conviction on assault and battery complaint, Mrs. Daniel Hill, 1211 Alabama street, Huntington Beach, was arrested on a similar charge last evening.

Mrs. Hill, visiting with Mrs. Handley and relatives, here used "indecent language," according to Mrs. Handley's complaint. Mrs. Hill said she was about to leave with her child when Mrs. Handley told her to "put the child down." In picking up the child, Mrs. Hill bumped Mrs. Handley, breaking her glasses, the defendant said. She was not booked at county jail but was released on $100 bail to appear next Monday in Huntington Beach justice court.

Walter Handley, sentenced by Judge Kenneth Morrison, for "beating up" O. K. Porgy, summons server of 204 South Sycamore, was advised by the judge that "if whipping posts were in vogue, you would be the first one to be whipped."

Attack Charged By Movie Extra

HOLLYWOOD, June 3.—(UP)—District attorney's investigators today sought evidence to substantiate charges of a 17-year-old film extra girl that she had been criminally assaulted at a movie colony stag party.

The girl, whose name is being withheld at present, charged she and nearly 100 other extra girls were lured to the stag party under pretenses that they were to be engaged for work in a musical comedy production.

Assistant District Attorney Eugene D. Williams declares his investigators were questioning other girls allegedly present at the party and said he would issue complaints if the charges were upheld by sufficient evidence.

Woman Kicks At Officer, Lands

Sergeant W. E. E. Sherwood was nursing a bruised thigh today. He, Officer Ralph Pantuso and Matron Dorothy Russick said the bruise resulted from a kick administered by Mrs. Lela Simmons, 40, Santa Ana woman whom they arrested on a charge of being drunk.

Nick Pappas of the pool hall and lunch counter, 316 East Fourth street, called police, stating Mrs. Simmons had been drinking steadily for three weeks at his place, and refused to leave. The officers were forced to carry her from the place when she struggled and refused to leave. She will be treated at county hospital, it was said.

LOSES $150, PURSE

Police and Charles Clark, local restaurant man, were unable to find a purse containing $150, which Clark lost at a local pool hall last night.

The PAYOFF

By HARRY GRAYSON
(Sports Editor, NEA Service)

CHICAGO—Jimmy Dykes, oldest active major league pitcher, opposes the suggestion that batters wear a protective helmet on the ground that it only would invite beaming.

"What keeps pitchers from throwing at batters' heads is fear of injuring them," explains the manager of the Chicago White Sox. "Assure pitchers that batters couldn't be hurt and give them a target in the way of headgear and I suspect baseball might look like one of those dodge 'em games you see at any county fair."

"A pitcher doesn't have to throw at a batter's head to drive him back from the plate, to keep him off balance, or to set him up for a subsequent pitch. There is no danger of serious injury when a pitcher keeps such a ball below the shoulders."

Dykes agrees with Burieligh

I doubt that the new arrangement will produce stronger teams, for the managers didn't pay much attention to the fans anyway. They played just about whom they pleased.

Strength of the teams made little difference. The All-Star game was cut out to be a spectacle. The brain child of a Chicago sports editor, it was meant to be the dream game of those who pay the freight. Every addict visions himself a manager at once time or another. The dream game was designed to give him a chance to satisfy to some extent that ambition once a year.

What showmen of other lines can't understand is why the heads of baseball toss out of the window reams of free publicity in the way of polls conducted by newspapers

Ford C. Frick Judge K. M. Landis Will Harridge

Grimes that a pitcher seldom would hit a batter who expected to be struck. Batters lost sight of the ball for various reasons and there is no explanation for the pellet sailing now and then.

The Duke of Upper Darby points to the very small percentage of hit batsmen, and is afraid that one will be hit on the head occasionally as long as baseball is played.

As well might have been expected, the present heads of professional baseball have taken the All-Star game away from the customers. Judge Landis and the big league presidents met in Washington the other day and, in effect, told the fans to mind their own business; that they'd run baseball.

How right the late Barney Dreyfuss was when he said, "Baseball succeeds in spite of those at its head."

Charley Ebbetts' famous remark of a quarter of a century ago, "Baseball is but in its infancy," still holds good insofar as the now $50,000,000 industry's relations with the people are concerned.

I understand that depriving the trade of any influence in the selections was the idea of Ford Frick, president of the National league. Frick not long ago was an enterprising young sports reporter, so it must be that something goes to the head of an individual as quickly as he assumes an executive capacity in baseball.

COAST ELEVEN'S LIMIT GAMES

PORTLAND, June 3.—Coaches and athletic directors of all-coast conference colleges were returning to their homes today after voting to ban intercollegiate football games during the regular eight-week round-robin season.

The new program will not become effective until 1939, however, as many college games already were arranged for this and next year.

The athletic leaders voted also to take action to eliminate "scalping" of tickets for the annual New Year's Day Rose Bowl game at Pasadena. This could be done, they believed, by limiting to six the number of tickets any one person would be permitted to buy.

It was voted to hold the 1938 track and field meet at Seattle May 21.

BAER; PASTOR FIGHT IN L. A. PROPOSED

LOS ANGELES, June 3.—Tom Gallery, Los Angeles promoter, tried today to induce Max Baer to come back to his native California for a bout with the New York contender, Bob Pastor, who last week defeated native son Bob Nestell in a fight arranged by Gallery.

Jimmy Johnston, Jr., manager of Pastor, has accepted the bout, Gallery said, but so far he has not heard from the former champion.

DEAN REFUSES TO APOLOGIZE

SUSPENSION OF PITCHING AGE IS CONTINUED

NEW YORK, June 3.—"Dizzy"

Dean's suspension from the National league was continued today by President Ford Frick after a two-hour conference by Dean, Frick, and manager Frank Frisch of the St. Louis Cardinals. Clarence Lloyd, secretary of the Cardinals, also was present.

Dean was suspended yesterday for "conduct detrimental to the best interests of baseball." Specifically he was supposed to have made remarks derogatory to Frick and Umpire George Barr.

Today Dean denied having made the statements attributed to him, refused to sign an apology for them and also refused to sign a statement that he had been misquoted.

Frick, after the conference, issued the following statement: "In a conference this morning between Manager Frisch, Secretary Lloyd, Player Dean, and the president of the National league, all statements purported to have been made by Mr. Dean and quoted in the press, reflecting upon the integrity and honesty of the National league office and National league umpires, were discussed thoroughly."

Makes Blanket Denial
"Mr. Dean made a blanket denial of ever having made any of the statements and said that he had not at any time made such statements to the press."

"He refused, however, to sign a public statement refuting the alleged remarks or any public statement that he was misquoted. As a result, it is the ruling of the National league office that Player Dean remain under indefinite suspension."

"My conscience is clear," Dean said after the meeting. "They're trying to make me sign something that isn't right. They're wrong. They revised the statement four times. Last time the apology was taken out. Breardon (Sam Breardon, Cards owner, who was telephoned in St. Louis) urged me to sign that one. But I wouldn't. I'm leaving for Chicago for a day or so. Then I'm going to my home in Bradenton, Fla."

Surrounded by a group of reporters and with a bottle of beer in his hand, Dean said he would never apologize for the things Frick referred to.

"Trying to Make Me a Heel"
"I'll jump out that window first," said Dizzy.

"We're on the twentieth floor," someone said.

"I don't care if we're on the fortieth floor," Dean replied. "Nobody's going to make a heel out of me and that's what Frick is trying to do."

The crux of the matter seems to be a statement attributed to Dean speaking before a father-and-son banquet May 25 at the First Presbyterian church in Belleville, Ill. Dean was quoted as saying: "The two biggest crooks in baseball today are Ford Frick and George Barr. I know I'll probably be kicked out of baseball for saying this but every fan in Belleville and St. Louis will be behind me."

Dean emphatically denies he made any such remark, and St. Johnson, another Cardinal pitcher who was with him, backs "Dizzy" up in the denial.

Before Dean was suspended yesterday he was given a chance to sign a formal apology, but refused.

"I never made all them statements," he said. "Frick wrote the letter himself, and wanted me to sign it. He wouldn't let me write the letter."

LILLARD HAND CUFFS SOLONS; SEALS WIN

(By United Press)

Gene Lillard, the slugging infielder who turned pitcher and made good immediately, boasted the second largest win total of any pitcher in the circuit today.

Lillard, leading home run hitter with Los Angeles in 1935 and a bench-warmer as an infield rookie with Chicago last year, turned in his ninth victory for the San Francisco Seals last night.

For four innings he fast-balled the hard-hitting Sacramento Solons into submission. Then with a lead of 5-0 he began to ease up, still retaining control, however. He finished with a 7-4 victory to push the Seals two games ahead.

Lillard will face the Solons again in the series between the pace setters and the runners-up. His next turn probably will be one of Sunday's two games.

Oakland, strengthened with new players from New York Yankee farms, won its sixth game in its last seven starts by beating Los Angeles a second time. The score was 6-2.

Portland and San Diego traveled 19 innings before the Beavers won 4-2, to even the series.

Mrs. Chapman And Mrs. Adams Score

Combining a 93, Mrs. Charles Chapman and Mrs. Pearl Adams took low gross honors in two-ball foursomes at the Willowick Golf club yesterday. Mrs. O. L. Jacobs and Mrs. J. L. Ainsworth had low net, 101-25-74.

Baltimore Baseball Glory Fades; Orioles Last

Rate New DiMaggio Better First-Year Player Than Joe

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—The Italian fisherman's family that sent Joe and Vince DiMaggio to big time baseball may send a third, greater than they, to play major league ball, President Charley Graham of San Francisco's Seals predicted today.

Graham is the shrewd veteran of this game who first gave Joe and Vince their starts. Today Joe is one of the big guns for New York's American league Yankees and Vince a mainstay of Boston's Red Sox in the National league.

The Seal manager pointed to a bespectacled boy, dwarfed by the other players working out. "That Dominic DiMaggio," Graham said, "He doesn't look much like a baseball player, does he?"

The 19-year-old boy appeared more like a scholar, or as Graham termed him, "a salesman in a florist shop."

The director of the Seals told of a tryout for baseball hopefuls which he held jointly with the Cincinnati club last spring. He and the Cincinnati manager

Cubs Bounce Back Into Race As Ailing Regulars Recover

BY LESLIE AVERY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, June 3.—The Chicago Cubs rode the crest of a seven-game winning streak today, challenging the National league leaders.

After suffering almost every affliction known to baseball, Charley Grimm's men have bounced back to within 2-1-2 games of the leading Pittsburgh Pirates. They trail the second-place Giants by but a half game—which they can wipe out by winning today.

During the early weeks of the season injuries riddled the Chicago infield, pitching and catching units. Then sick players began to get well, injuries healed, regulars got back in the lineup, and the Cubs began to win.

Grimm appears to have solved to gain, and nothing (except a few hours sleep each) to lose managing the Orioles. Certainly, they won't do any worse under him, and if they do better he might attract the attention of major league owners who are always on the lookout for managerial talent or coaches.

And, the Orioles might very well do an about-face. They aren't in fact, they can't be as far as they have looked so far.

They have considerable power with their regular outfield consisting of Poch Pucelli, who labored a while in the Philadelphia, vineyard last year; and Abernathy, who had a spell with the Phillies; and Wright, a young likely-looking former Southern leaguer.

The infield is young, but pretty well balanced and ordinarily steady. The pitching staff was weakened considerably through loss of Cliff Melton, the southpaw now with the New York Giants who won 20 games for them last year, but Rhoads, Chagnon, Pettit and Matuzak, all former major leaguers, figure to be minor league winners.

But they don't sound quite as reassuring as Grove, Earnshaw, Ogden and Bentley, do they?

That was a staff—and those were the days.

If, by any chance, Crouse fails to revive the Orioles, Babe Ruth would win the undying gratitude of Baltimore fans—and the increased respect of sentimentalists the world over—if he would step out of his pouting retirement and volunteer to lead the team that gave him his first shove along the diamond trail.

At that, Crouse has everything

Montague, Man Of Mystery, Spurns British Golf Offer

HOLLYWOOD, June 3.—John Montague, the man of mystery at the Lakeside Country club, whose legendary feats with golf clubs are the talk of the west, reiterated today that he will never play in a public tournament and that all he wants is to be left alone.

He is known here as the "Paul Bunyan of the fairways," and there are golfers who swear he raps out 400-yard drives, and that he beat Bing Crosby, the club champion, with nothing but a baseball bat, shovel and rake for tools.

Ordinarily Montague is silent about his game. Today it behooved him to speak out in rejecting an offer of $2500 for an appearance in London.

The offer of 500 pounds was made by a British publication if he could and would beat Henry Cotton of England in a 72-hole match on the continent.

"I," he said, "have never challenged any player. I have never boasted of what I could do or have done. In return all I ask is to be left alone. My reasons are these: I have no need for money. Although I have won high stakes playing golf I have never made a penny at it. I have made it a point to spend every cent.

EASTERN LINES REPORT PICKUP IN RAIL TRAVEL

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the first of three stories showing the result of a United Press survey on increasing railroad passenger traffic.

By HENRY D. RENNWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
CHICAGO, (UP)—Railroad passenger traffic the first part of this year increased, in some instances as much as 50 per cent over last year, a United Press nationwide survey showed today.

The largest increase occurred on the Baltimore & Ohio, where 51 per cent more passengers were carried during the period from June to December, 1936. Revenue on the line during this same time increased 15 per cent. Throughout the year, 1936 gave the B. & O. an increase of 48.5 per cent in volume, and 13.1 per cent in revenue.

The significant point in these figures is the fact that volume and revenue increases showed the largest gain beginning in June, 1936. It was on June 2, 1936, that the Eastern railroads reduced their fares following orders from the Interstate Commerce Commission. Previously, the fares were 3.6 cents with the railroads also receiving a surcharge of 50 per cent on Pullman accommodations. The I. C. C. ordered fares lowered to 3 cents a mile, first class, and 2 cents a mile for tickets in coaches only.

New Service Offered
Effective the latter part of April, the B. & O. added a new train, the Shenandoah, between Chicago and New York—and installed the stewardess-nurse service made popular by Western trains a year ago. Also in April the line's Royal Blue train operating between New York and Washington was replaced by a faster streamliner to handle the increased business.

Officials of the passenger department report the early part of 1937 shows consistently increasing figures, both in volume and revenue. The New York Central line reports a substantial increase in traffic, but revenues from passenger business are considerably less than under the former fares. However, passenger men on this line are optimistic that 1937 will make a good showing in comparison to 1936.

The winter travel to Florida over the New York Central increased between 35 and 40 per cent. The New York Central draws its Florida traffic from such major points as Chicago, Buffalo, Cleveland and Toledo, delivering these passengers to southern lines at Cincinnati, where they move southward to the winter vacation resorts.

Three months—December to February—is when the New York Central handles most of the business headed south, and the latter part of March and all of April, the movement returns north. This naturally causes quite an operating problem to the line, for while the southern movement is spread over a 90-day period, after the season is in Florida the movement north concentrated into a few short weeks when flow of traffic is exceedingly heavy. Local passenger business on the New York Central showed a good increase.

To accommodate the increased business on this line, no actual new trains were added, but regular runs are operated in two or more sections daily to handle the additional travelers. The Pennsylvania Railroad reports an increase over its entire system in the number of passengers carried, but was severely handicapped in travel to Florida by the floods. A new train, The General, was inaugurated in April between Chicago and New York, operating on a fast schedule of 17 hours and 15 minutes—making it the second fastest train on the run. The famous Broadway Limited covers the distance in 16 and one-half hours.

L. & N. Traffic Heavier
The Louisville and Nashville traffic to Florida was better this past winter than for several years, officials of this line report. An increase in volume of traffic interchanged between the L. & N. and eastern lines, such as the New York and Florida, also was reported.

While the Louisville and Nashville Florida traffic was up this year, it also was handicapped by floods. Physical damage to the property of the road due to the floods amounted to $700,000. That does not include loss of revenue from lost, diverted or suspended service, which can not be determined accurately.

Passenger officials of all Eastern lines expect a huge volume of traffic throughout the summer, and believe that if business conditions continue as favorable as they have been, traffic for the year will show an even greater increase than in 1936.

TO PRESENT CONCERT
MIDWAY CITY, June 3.—Mrs. Ed. L. Hensley of 234 Van Buren street, Midway City, who was organizer of the Long Beach Women's Symphony orchestra, plays with the organization in two public appearances this week. The two programs are the opening of the Gold Star Mothers convention at the Municipal auditorium Tuesday evening, and on Sunday afternoon the Memorial program was presented by the orchestra. Mrs. Hensley joined the group in regular orchestra numbers and as a member of the trumpet quartet which gave special numbers.

CITIES TO MARK CHILDREN'S DAY

NEW YORK—(UP)—A nationwide drive to increase children's play opportunities will be launched on Children's Day, June 19.

Celebrating 50 years of progress in the development of recreational facilities for juveniles, more than 300 cities are preparing special programs to focus community attention on the necessity of giving every child an equal chance to play. To dramatize the importance of playthings as essential tools of child development, a series of playground contests, doll parades, toy boat regattas and races with roller skates, bicycles and scooters have been scheduled in many communities.

"Fifty years ago New York City got the land for its first municipal playground as an experiment," said Dr. Grace Langdon, president of the Child Play Association and specialist in FERA nurseries, sounding the keynote for National Children's Day celebrations. "In those days playthings were thought of as luxury."

"Today every community in the United States has made some provision for play facilities for every youngster. Educators fully recognize that the influence of play hours on character is second only to the school as a mold of character. Social service workers realize that constructive playthings are potent insurance against the corroding influences of delinquency."

Tremendous progress has been achieved, but there is still great need for increasing the play opportunities available to underprivileged children. When the school term is over, it should be the responsibility of every citizen to consider what can be done to provide every child in his community with a better chance to play."

Many communities plan to observe Children's Day by collecting playthings for the underprivileged so that every child will have a chance to improve vacation hours by beneficial physical and educational play.

Children's need for a variety of play opportunity is being stressed. Basic needs stressed include active play to aid physical development and the co-ordination of the eye and muscles; creative play such as building and drawing which stimulate initiative and manipulative skill; imitation of grownup activities such as doll care and carpentry work, and games for group play which teach good sportsmanship.

BLIND MEN WIN PRAISE ON JOB

CLEVELAND—(UP)—William Rost, Joseph Garuk and John Fuduric are blind, but they go to work daily on the assembly line in a factory.

Beside them work John Danley, 78, who got his job when he was 73, and Jacob Mahler, who long ago lost the sight of one eye.

All are regarded as efficient producers.

They are employed by the Upson-Walton company. Their job is to attach nuts and clamps to the U-shaped bolts used on cables in construction work.

Boast has been with the company 25 years. During all that time he has been blind. Garuk has been on the job two years. Fuduric, the third of the blind workers came to the factory only a year ago.

Danley has worked steadily for five years and Mahler for two years.

"They're all fast at their work, and they get along comfortably in spite of their handicap," said Dewey Peterson, shop superintendent. "Garuk goes to and from home by street car with no one to help him. Danley goes home with Bost Fuduric."

Interest of the late John W. Walton in finding jobs for handicapped men resulted in a policy, developed more than 20 years ago, of hiring several blind men to work in the company's assembly rooms.

"Mr. Walton found that men handicapped as to eyesight could do as well, and sometimes better, assembling U-bolts, nuts and clamps," explained Frank J. Hemler, secretary of the company, "and there have been several such men in that department, placed in co-operation with the Society for the Blind."

"Since Mr. Walton's death," he added, "the company has continued his plan of finding work for men whose chances of getting factory jobs were small because of physical handicaps."

DAVID CHERRY VOTED FIRST BY TOASTMASTERS

David Cherry won first place in the speaking contest held by Smedley Chapter of Toastmasters International at their meeting last night at Danagers. His topic was "America First."

In his talk, Cherry reviewed the armament programs of the leading countries of the world and discussed America's part in maintaining peace.

"The Blue and the Gray" was the subject of Sam Long which won second place in the speaking contest, and in which he paid tribute to the men who fought on both sides of the Civil War.

Vacation Trips
Robert Korff gave a summary of vacation trips which everyone would like to take.

The thrills experienced in making a parachute jump were described by Ernest R. Byrne.

"An Apology" was the title of the talk given by H. O. Ensign in which he compared the anthropoid ape with man in size and strength. Phil Crittenden gave his initial craft talk before the club.

J. Lee Woods presided as Toastmaster of the evening with Harry S. House as general critic and James N. Anderson as dictionary critic.

Robert Gilbert, E. J. Smith and Dr. C. J. Rulley were visitors.

TWO TEACHERS GET NEW AWARD

Two faculty members of Santa Ana Junior college formally were initiated into Pi Beta Phi, French honorary society at the University of Southern California, this week. They were Miss Leila B. Watson, head of the college language department, and Thomas H. Glenn, head of the English department. Mrs. Glenn also was initiated.

The three were taken in as honorary members of the U.S.C. chapter. Only those people in universities and colleges who are outstanding in French are admitted. This is considered a high honor, it was said.

Mrs. Glenn has taught at the University of Southern California. She is scheduled to be instructor in French at Mills college during the summer.

Glenn now is working for his

Ph. D. degree in English. He has just passed his preliminary examination at U.S.C. for the degree.

The initiation was held at the home of Dr. Blissett in Hollywood. Approximately 200 persons attended the reception. The Los Angeles French consul, M. Viala, was there.

Poet Shelley, Like Duke Of Windsor, Quit English Soil Under Verbal Fire, Attacks Of Compatriots

Aristocratic Young Rebel Against Accepted Codes Wed Twice "Beneath His Level"

Editor's Note: Another famed and aristocratic, though non-royal, Englishman went into voluntary exile, as did King Edward VIII, when the thunder of criticism from pulpit and public grew too loud. And with the poet Shelley, as with the Duke of Windsor, there was a woman to share his exile. . . . This is the third of six articles about history's "Lovers in Exile."

BY MORRIS GILBERT
(NEA Service Staff Writer)

Percy Bysshe Shelley's exile from England was more than voluntary. He had lost certain civil rights, the church was antagonistic, he was at the mercy of society. Only away from England were he and Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley to find comparative peace, far from the attacks of his compatriots at home.

His worst offense, from the British point of view, was that he was a traitor to his class. As a county gentleman, heir to such worldly matters as a title and a fortune, he belonged to the Upper Orders.

But young Shelley, grandson of Sir Bysshe Shelley, Bart., and plutocrat, kept jumping the traces. First, he made a runaway marriage with a pretty girl, considered beneath his social level although in comfortable circumstances. Then he ran away with another girl who had the effrontery to be not only beneath his level but penniless as well.

WENT CONTRARY TO CODE FROM STUDENT DAYS ON

Shelley from his earliest days, in fact, offended the code. At Eton, instead of playing games, he read books. This reprehensible habit, which even Britain's most famous school could not correct, was the obvious cause of his downfall. Coupled with his flaming intellect, his pyrotechnic personality, it made him, within a short time, one of the very greatest lyric poets that ever lived. But John Bull couldn't foresee that, and, at the beginning of the 19th century wouldn't have cared anyway.

Eton behind, Shelley's career in Oxford was short. Having published a tract called "The Necessity of Atheism," he was expelled.

His marriage with Harriet Westbrook grew directly out of this event. Cut off by his father, Shelley was living in penury in London when a schoolmate of his sisters began to act as messenger. She carried Shelley his sisters' pocket money, cookies, and buns. It was not hard for an impressionable schoolgirl of 16 to fall in love with Shelley. He was exceptionally beautiful, with vivid blue eyes, silky blond hair, a slender and resilient frame. His amazing vitality, his esthetic moral causes. Disciple of the social philosopher Godwin, he believed in man's perfectibility, scorned worldly position and wealth, and preached a Supreme Spirit who had little in common with the Old Testament Jehovah. Idealistic, impulsive, chivalrous, there was nothing of the libertine about him, nothing of the Regency hell-rake which his friend Lord Byron so notably exemplified.

More out of sympathy than love, he ran away with Harriet to Edinburgh, where they were married. This was, of course, a minor violation of the code. What followed, when he deserted Harriet for Mary, was much worse.

He explained it, with his ruthless logic, by saying that his love for Harriet had died and that it was sinful to continue the form of marriage in such a case. Right or wrong, the world would have lost a quantity of its highest poetry had he been more obedient to conventions.

The circumstances of the separation were, however, terribly painful. The ethereal realm in which Shelley's mind moved was hard to climb to. Harriet, first grieved by his desertion, presently sought solace. When her reputed lover left her, and she was expecting a child, she drowned herself.

Shelley's two children by this marriage were denied him by the court of Chancery on the ground that he was an atheist. True, out of regard for Mary, he and she were presently married.

SISTER ACCOMPANIED MARY IN FLIGHT

Shelley's love and exile were, in a way, exceptional. That was because they grew out of principle had an affair with Byron and a child by him, Allegra. Shelley went home to fight for the custody of his two children in Chancery and lost. When they departed again for the continent, he never returned.

Infant mortality was high in those days. Baby William presently succumbed. Then little Allegra.

HIS PLATONIC LOVES HARASSED MARY

All the time he was pouring forth his magnificent poetry. "Queen Mab" was the first important work he issued. Then, in quick succession came many others, "Alastor," "Adonais," "Prometheus Unbound," the "Ode to Liberty," the "Lines On An Indian Air," and the host of lyric poems so remarkable in their beauty and passion.

In Mary he seemed to have found an almost perfect counterpart. "Ever at the back of his mind dwelt his ideal of perfect physical beauty united to perfect spiritual beauty." Maternity and the trials of their strange life had their effect, however. Shelley's persistent and bewildering generosity, the demands on his purse, the fantastic family troubles of the Godwins, coupled with Byron's casual treatment of Mary's sister—all these matters were a constant worry. Behind them was England, eternally censorious.

Shelley's childlike idealism and impulsiveness worked occasional hardship on Mary. She was obliged to put up with her lover-husband's spiritual affinities with several women, including her sister, about whom British rumor was particularly vicious. In Italy, the beautiful Emilia turned up to trouble Mary. Emilia was a gloriously handsome Italian, living, for want of money, in a religious house. She and Shelley became violently attached to each other, but always on a platonic plane as far as he was concerned.

Rebel against codes and conventions, Percy Bysshe Shelley (right) paid the price—a life led away from his native England, far from the thunder of critical voices—with Mary Shelley (left) as his loving companion in exile.

"They built a great pyre on the beach and placed Shelley's body on it. Incense, oil and salt were cast on the flames, wine was poured on the poet's body." . . . Above: a reproduction of Louis Edward Fourrier's famous painting.

It is probably true that no one less incontinent than he ever lived. He became so engrossed with a passionate poem which he was writing to Emilia that he was unaware that an Italian noble had volunteered to marry her, even without a dowry, and carried her off. This spiritual betrayal hurt him deeply.

In Pisa, for the first time in years, the Shelleys' lives seemed to be growing rationally comfortable. There was a charming and increasing circle of friends. Shelley's financial worries were less grave.

Lover of flowing water, his ear and spirit ever attune to its lovely sensuous movement. Shelley could not swim, and he was an excruciatingly determined sailor. He bought a boat, the "Ariel."

With another land-lubber he set sail from Leghorn for Spezia, to rejoin Mary, who was at the latter place. There was a fresh breeze blowing and a sea making up. The wind began to whip, and haze obscured the view of watchers ashore. They saw the "Ariel" take in her top-sail and then the storm hid her from view.

Three days later, a letter came addressed from Leigh Hunt to Shelley. Mary opened it, in terrible fear. "Pray write to tell us how you got home," it read, "for they say you had had weather after you sailed on Monday . . ."

In six days a coastguard notified friends of Shelley that a body had been washed ashore from the sea. The fish had eaten away parts of it. But the figure was Shelley's. In the jacket pocket were volumes of eKats and Sophocles.

BARTENDER, "PARTNER" GONE, A.W.O.L.—AND WOULDN'T YOU?

ST. LOUIS, June 3.—(UP)—Customers were not served at Gracelli's buffet here today because its bartender, Mario Radaelli, 35, and its sandwich man, Jess Shelton, 40, quit work when they were told they were winners of $150,000 first prize money in the English derby sweepstakes.

Radaelli and Shelton were joint winners. He was born in Hubbard, Texas, served in the A. E. F. and was wounded twice.

"I'm going to quit making sandwiches, first of all," Shelton, a stocky, bald-headed Texan, said. "And I'm going to invest enough to put me on easy street—if I can."

Shelton has four children, all well as against taxes in general," the committee said. "It is suggested that the architectural profession undertake a study of all the factors having to do with the cost of housing, and that the housing program of the P.W.A. be used as the basis on which the study is made."

The committee believed high costs resulted from "the accumulation of practices which might be investigated in order that changes may be suggested for the good of the consumer."

Three remedies have been suggested for the committee:

1. Increase the income of the American people to a point where they can pay the rents resulting from the present cost of building.
  2. Reduce the cost of building to the point where the ability to pay would enable a large number of people to secure satisfactory living accommodations.
  3. Partly bridge the gap.
- The committee rejected the third remedy on grounds it would "merely subsidize the present evils which should be eliminated" and would "prevent the development by industry of new methods."

BOSTON.—(UP)—The American Institute of Architects at its 69th convention opening here tomorrow will be asked to conduct a nationwide study to determine if racketeers have gained a foothold in the construction industry and have impeded the housing movement.

Millions of dollars in construction are being held up in many communities because of high building costs, according to the institute's housing committee.

"Road" issues are being voted down all over the United States because of the revolt of taxpayers against the cost of construction as

Greatest Mileage Tire In 43 Years!

"THERE ARE THOUSANDS OF EXTRA MILES IN KELLY'S TOUGH ARMORUBBER TREAD"

A FAVORITE ALL OVER ORANGE COUNTY

LOCAL CAR OWNERS know their tires. And it's significant that they're replacing with Kellys. Putting Kellys on every wheel!

The reason? A sound, sensible one! Kelly's tougher Armorubber Tread — specially compounded rubber to resist the tough going that you find on any road.

A tougher, harder, wear-resistant rubber . . . it wears more slowly, resists the common causes of tire failure. In hundreds of thousands of miles of actual use . . . on open highways . . . on punishing country roads . . . in all sorts of weather . . . it's come through with flying colors. We want you to test these tires on a mileage basis; you'll agree, "It's the finest tire in Kelly's 43 years!"

Jaycee Junior Lions And Guests Enjoy Steak Bake

Steak dinner at Irvine park Tuesday night was enjoyed by members of Junior Lions, Jaycee men's service club, and their feminine guests. Informal games and dancing climaxed the party.

Those who supervised the affair were Paul Wolven and William White, refreshments; and Dick Geeting, general chairman.

Present as chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. George B. Holmes.

Attending the party were the Misses Jane King, Betty Ormiston, Betty Wentz, Elaine McReynolds, Emma Swartz, Beth Hewitt, and Frances Keeton and Messrs. Dick Geeting, Paul Wolven, Dick Mathew, William White, Hugh Plumb, Franklin Guthrie, Donn Hart, Lester Bowman, Marvin Hinton, Bob Alexander, and Jack Wood.

Church Societies

First Baptist
Having completed their White Cross quota for the year, members of Woman's society of First Baptist church met for an all day affair yesterday at the church, spending the morning hours quilting.

The work, which will be sent to 12 missionaries stationed in China, India and Burma, was placed on display, and Mrs. A. F. Hill conducted dedication services for the materials.

Covered dish luncheon was served at noon by Mesdames L. E. Coffman, K. A. King, J. E. Swank, J. A. Newcomer and R. E. McCarty. Guests were the Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Carter, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Jones, all of Los Angeles, and Mesdames Moore, Seitzer, Williams, Dean, Taylor and Holmes from the Second Baptist church.

Mrs. L. C. Fairbanks introduced the speaker of the afternoon, the Rev. Mr. Carter, who spoke of work among the Negroes in Southern California. A new church building for the Second Baptist church was mentioned as one of the needs in the local field.

Following the nautical theme of the year, Mrs. R. E. McBurney chose as the subject of her devotional, "Channel Lights." Mrs. Moore, wife of acting pastor of Second Baptist church, sang three spirituals, "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen," "Deep River," and "Sometimes I Feel Like a Motherless Child," accompanying herself on the piano.

Reports on the recent state convention at Pasadena were given by Mesdames L. C. Fairbanks, M. M. Holmes, H. S. Harlow, C. E. Cave, R. C. Grouse, J. P. Williams, L. T. Phelps, Miss Lulu Minter and Miss Grace Roberts. Mrs. Fairbanks, who was elected state president of the Southern California Mission Woman's society, was presented with a bouquet of flowers from members of the local group.

Miss Minter, who is on the board of directors, received a corsage bouquet.

Russell Crouse sang "Great Is Thy Love," accompanied by Miss Beulah Parker; Mrs. J. P. Williams and Miss Parker sang a duet, "All the Way My Savior Leads Me," accompanied by Miss Mame Havens.

Mrs. P. H. Reifel led in prayer preceding business meeting conducted by the president, Miss Lulu Minter.

United Presbyterian
Fiftieth anniversary of the Women's Missionary magazine was observed by members of United Presbyterian Missionary society Wednesday during their afternoon program in the church parlors. Mrs. Roy Kelchner and her committee, Miss Adella Cowan, Mrs. Roy Beall and Mrs. C. Dunbar were in charge.

Mrs. Beall had arranged a giant size magazine, which stood upright near the stage. Leaves of the large book were turned to reveal the various numbers scheduled for the program. Mrs. Beall read a poem; Miss Adella Cowan, "Vision of the Magazine"; Miss Ethel Collins, devotionals. Telling the work of the various local church organizations in with the theme of the magazine, members gave interesting reports.

Mrs. Will McBurney talked on Foreign Missions; Mrs. Benjamin Heemstra, Home Missions; Mrs. Roy Kelchner, literature; Mrs. W. H. Hoy and Mrs. Will J. Lind-say sang "Subscribe for Our Magazine" to the tune of "My Old Kentucky Home"; Miss Minnie Cowan read editorials; Mrs. Grace Anderson spoke on work of Daisy Russell society; Mrs. Will J. Lind-say, King's Daughters and Juniors; Miss Jane White, Temperance; Mrs. Fred Miller, Thank Offering; Mrs. Fred Miller, Tribute. A basket of flowers was placed in front of the magazine, and tribute to the memory of those who have passed away was given by Mrs. W. H. Hoy. Mrs. M. M. Tidball paid tribute to the memory of Mrs. Melissa Gibson.

The afternoon session was preceded by a meeting of Ladies' Aid society. Luncheon was served at noon by Miss Minnie Cowan, Mrs. Martha Miller, Mrs. Carrie Sherrill and Mrs. John McPadden. Mrs. W. S. Kennedy, president, conducted the afternoon meeting.

Birthday Anniversary Occasions Tea in West Home

Planned in observance of the birthday anniversary of Miss Boyd Joplin, an informal tea was given at an attractive setting yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Edmond West 726 Kilson Drive. An intimate group of relatives and close friends shared the hospitality.

Miss Joplin's aunt, Mrs. Robert Northcross poured tea, presiding at a prettily-laden table centered with primroses and other blossoms of delicate hue. It was the honoree's pleasant duty to cut and serve a pink and white candle-decked cake made by the hostess.

Invited to share the affair were Miss Joplin and her mother, Mrs. Marjorie Joplin; Mesdames T. E. Stephenson, Robert Northcross, F. C. Rowland, C. S. Crookbank, Terry Stephenson Jr., Bernard Parker, James Stephenson, Braden Finch, Russell Wilson and daughter, Barbara; Miss Eleanor Crookbank, Miss Mary Saffley, all of this community; Miss Rosa Boyd, Laguna Beach; with the hostess, Mrs. West.

Guardian Council Has Dinner Meeting

Members of Job's Daughters guardian council held a monthly meeting and chicken dinner last night at Dixie Castle, with Mr. and Mrs. Plummer Bruns as hosts for the affair.

One long table was set with peach and yellow glassware with matching candles.

Present with the hosts were Messrs. and Mesdames Charles F. Carlson, Guy Christian, R. R. Rossetto, William J. Dean, W. C. McFarland, Frank P. Sawyer and Harry Crowe.

Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer received the group for the next meeting July 7 in their home, 1322 Durant street.

The Mixing Bowl

Copy book maxims of a by-gone day told the world at large that "Speech was silver, but Silence was gold," or words to that effect. Silence may have its virtues at the right time, but my experience has been that when I wanted information, it had to be asked for. So, when I saw a certain glancing head of gray hair as a party recently, with a tint that was neither blue nor lilac, the only way I could find out what was used to tint the hair, was to make conversation with the lady and gradually bring around my "burning question" in a natural way. And, do you know what she used to get that glorious tint? INDELIBLE PENCIL!

Shave bits off the lead and dissolve in a small quantity of boiling water. When ready to use, dilute the dark solution to a much paler tint and pour over the hair after the last rinsing.

You won't find the caloric contents of an indelible pencil in our big Calory List, but you will find most every thing else, computed in quantities familiar to everyone. The list is offered on a barter basis: you send me a good recipe or household hint, with a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and I'll mail you a copy of the calory list. Right now, I'd like pickle and canning recipes, but I won't look any gift horse in the mouth, so send along your recipes.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Fried Salt Pork with Country Gravy
Salt pork with a steak of lean, cut in thin slices.
1-2 cup corn meal mixed with 1/4 cup flour
Salt, pepper, pinch of sugar
Cut rind off pork, and slice very thin. Allow three full slices to each person, for plebian as fried salt pork is, there are times when it is the best food in existence. Mix the meal and flour, season it, and roll the pork slices in it until well coated. Arrange them on a hot dry skillet, turn frequently as they fry to a golden brown, nice 'n' crisp. Pile on a hot platter, fry some eggs to go with the pork, then strain the fat, and wipe out the skillet with paper. Return 2 tablespoons of fat to pan, add 2 1/2 tablespoons flour and about 1 1/2 cups milk. Stir until well cooked; serve in bowl, not around the fried pork as used to be the custom... some people like their pork crisp, not bogged down in gravy.

Around lunch time would be a good time to start rolls intended for dinner. This is a very good recipe for beggars.

Orange Dinner Rolls

Sponge
About 11 a. m. scald 1/2 cup milk Add to milk 2 tablespoons sugar and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Cool until tepid before adding 1/2 yeast cake dissolved in 2 tablespoons tepid water. Whip into mixture 1/2 cup flour. Cover the sponge and let rise until full of bubbles (about 1 1/2 hours) Beat down and add: 2 tablespoons melted butter 1 beaten egg 1 teaspoon grated orange peel 1 1/2 cups flour and 1 teaspoon salt
Mix well and let rise again. Turn the raised sponge onto a floured board, knead lightly, and roll out to thickness of biscuit dough. Cut in round, place on buttered roll pan and into the top of each biscuit press a lump of sugar dipped in orange juice. Sprinkle a few chopped walnuts over tops of biscuits and bake in a hot oven when well risen. (Roll oven should be 400 degrees F.) Not all the dough will be needed for biscuits. Why not make a coffee cake with balance?

Friday: Rabbit Shortcake and Buttered Halibut.

Woman's Club Installation Climaxes Picnic Meeting

Installation of officers came as a climaxing feature of an annual picnic luncheon meeting of Woman's club of Santa Ana yesterday at Hillcrest park, Fullerton, where many members and guests assembled for the organization's final event of the season. Mrs. R. A. McMahon became president to succeed Mrs. F. A. Martin.

Mrs. Alex P. Nelson, honorary member of the club, and past president of Orange County Federation of Women's clubs, conducted installation rites. "Stand strong for federation" was her advice to the group as she gave a short talk on the significance of club work.

Mrs. Nelson called upon each retiring officer to aid in the ceremony, and to present a corsage bouquet to her successor. Taking over their duties with the president, Mrs. McMahon, were Mrs. Fern Tarbox, vice president; Miss Linda Kroeker, recording secretary; Mrs. Earl Ladd, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. F. Jacoby, treasurer; Mrs. Harry Brackett, press chairman; Mrs. R. G. Carman, parliamentary; Mrs. W. H. Kuhn, historian; Mrs. F. A. Martin, federation secretary.

Those who served this year were Mrs. Martin, president; Mrs. McMahon, vice president; Miss Linda Kroeker, recording secretary; Mrs. Ethel Brown, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. F. Jacoby, treasurer; Mrs. E. J. Grothier, press chairman; Mrs. J. G. McCracken, parliamentary; Mrs. E. A. Elwell, historian; Mrs. E. M. Waycott, federation secretary.

Mrs. Martin conducted a business session in the morning, when section leaders and officers gave reports of the year's work. Covered-dish luncheon at noon was served by a committee composed of Mesdames G. V. Linsenbaur, Hal Noel, Robert Borchard, J. D. Watkins, M. M. Collins and E. M. Waycott.

In her report, Mrs. E. A. Elwell, chairman of ways and means committee, announced that the sum of $50 had been raised through the use of a wall pocket plan introduced by Mrs. Carman.

Mrs. Brackett, who was in charge of entertainment of the afternoon, opened the program with vocal solos, "My Heart is a Haven" and "Without You," accompanied at the piano by Miss Leonora Tompkins. Miss Tompkins played a solo, "Venitienne." Fourth Barcarolle (Goddard). Mrs. Earl Ladd read some of the poems which have been written by Poetry section and members during the past year. In the group were "House of Shining Windows" by Mrs. Brackett; "Autumn" by Mrs. E. G. Warner; "Spring," Mrs. Margaret Church; "Music by the Sea," Mrs. M. M. Collins; "Only Nine," Mrs. Ladd.

Just preceding installation, Mrs. Martin presented gifts to each of her officers, and at the close of the ceremony, gave a gift to Mrs. Nelson. Mrs. Martin received a past president's pin from the hands of Mrs. E. G. Maier, and a remembrance on behalf of the club sections, with Mrs. E. A. Elwell making the presentation.

New President
Giving a short talk at the close of induction rites, Mrs. McMahon announced as the motto for the new year, "Happiness through service to others." She introduced section leaders, who include Mrs. P. R. Arnold, Study section; Mrs. G. V. Linsenbaur, philanthropy; Mrs. E. A. Elwell, homecraft; Mrs. Richard Pagett, garden; Mrs. M. Collins, poetry; Mrs. Pagett, evening social section; Mrs. Glenn Hulise, afternoon social section; Mrs. J. D. Watkins, music and drama.

Mrs. McMahon announced the appointment of Mrs. E. M. Waycott as flower chairman; Mrs. Earl Lepper, way and means; Mrs. J. D. Watkins, program.

Extension Chairman Confers With College Executives

Mrs. Edward Landers of San Francisco, college extension chairman of California Congress of Parents and Teachers was in this city yesterday to confer with officers of Santa Ana College Patrons association and executives of the Junior college.

Mrs. Z. B. West, new president of the local association, called a meeting in the women's lounge on the college campus. Mrs. Landers outlined work which is ahead for College groups of the state, and told of the projects being furthered by the various College Patrons associations.

D. K. Hammond, junior college director; Mrs. Robert Northcross, dean of women; Calvin Flint, dean of men; and John McCoy, assistant director, were among college executives present.

Average Child Cringes Before Parental Deficiencies

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

If you were to talk of mental ills to a doctor who specializes in chronic misbehavior of children, you would carry home some surprising facts about the hidden causes of poor conduct.

Today, we shall take up only one of the sources of incorrigibility, although there are dozens—the feeling the boy gets (usually the boy in this case) when he has lost his respect for his father.

It is impossible to tell what is in a growing child's mind. He plays about, or goes to school, and except for certain spells of contrariness, perhaps, seems as normal and happy as the next fellow.

All the boys he knows have dads who go off to work, come home and slap their "Arts," or their "Chucks," with the paper and say, "Hello, kid." They aren't exactly of a pattern, these men, but to Johnny they are, because they dress and act pretty much alike. They're regular and they act as fathers should.

Like Huck Finn's "Pappy" Johnny's father is different. No Johnny's father is different. No Johnny's father won't share, drinks Johnny's father won't share, like a lot, only works when he feels like it and is as mean as poison to his family.

The boy knows that all his friends know it. He agonizes in his pride, as only a boy can. He seeks relief in his own way. One way is to emulate his dad after a fashion, just to show the world that HE doesn't think it's so bad. Another is to bluster and bully, to attract attention to his deliberate misbehavior rather than be pitied or marked. A real hero is to show off. Another way is to show off, to steal, depending on his reactions to his secret shame.

We take an extreme case merely as an example to show how it works. The boy, of course, may do some surprising things precisely the opposite of such dire demonstrations, such as determining to make up to his mother all that he feels his father has failed in. Or he may develop a perfect frenzy of ambition, compelling people to admire rather than pity. "I'll show them," he says, and acts accordingly.

Family Demands Loyalty

That much for Johnny, and his brothers in trouble. We will turn now to our own homes, and our own children, and their pride in their fathers.

Sometimes a mother gets into the habit of saying, "If your father were only rich," or "Your father is so lazy," or "I wish your daddy was like Mr. Jones," or "We haven't anything and you know who to blame."

Words are not even necessary. Criticism can be so easily implied. Father may be a first rate fellow, with no more faults than anybody else, but children take suggestion for fact.

The boys won't go out and rob a register just because their mother thinks her husband is a failure, but something very vital and necessary to their love and pride is wounded. And it hits directly at their own self-respect. They want so much to admire their father. They can't bear to lose that thought. How they struggle to retain their faith.

In his turn, a man must merit it. He should not depend on his wife to bolster up his stock, if he is habitually unworthy.

It works two ways, naturally. The children need so sorely to honor both parents. A man can do his wife as much damage in the family's eyes, as she can do him. The finest thing that either of them can do is to be loyal and to praise each other to the children. (Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.)

D. A. V. Auxiliary

Willard Junior High school seventh grade girls presented a program Wednesday evening at a meeting of Jack Fisher auxiliary D. A. V. in Knights of Columbus hall. Under the direction of Miss Esther Jean Davis, the group sang "Viva L'Amour," "Sweet and Low" and a Memorial day song, with Anna Mae Burks accompanying.

During a business meeting, plans were made for a covered-dish luncheon which the Sewing Circle will hold Wednesday, June 9 in Anaheim park. Mrs. John Kemper and Mrs. Ellis Gaddis will be hostesses.

It was reported that Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Thwaite and Mrs. Fannie Reeves visited San Fernando hospital recently, taking a number of useful articles to the veterans. Members made plans to visit veterans in Sawtelle next Sunday.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting, with Mrs. Harry D. Edwards in charge.

DRILL TEAM

Plans for a candy booth for the circus and carnival to be given by Orange County Vulture 40 at 8 and American Legion Drum corps June 7, 8 and 9 in Veterans hall were made at a recent meeting of Legion auxiliary drill team. Mrs. Rolla Parker's home, 715 South Main street was setting for the meeting.

After a short business meeting, Mrs. Parker served refreshments.

Santa Monica Wedding Is of Interest in This City

News of the marriage of Miss Evelyn Franelle Pfeiffer and John Joseph Boyce Jr. of Santa Monica Tuesday, June 1 is of special interest in Santa Ana, since the bridegroom is a brother of Harold Boyce, 1308 South Flower street.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyce were among the guests invited to the wedding, which occurred at 8 o'clock in the evening in the Chapel of Dawn, Santa Monica. Guests included Betty Grable and Jackie Coogan, both of whom have been dance students of Boyce, whose studio is located at Los Angeles Ambassador hotel. He has been featured dancer at the Cocoanut Grove for the past two years, and also has been dancing at the Trocadero this season. Marjorie Keeler, sister of Ruby Keeler, formerly was his dancing partner.

The bridegroom is son of Mr. and Mrs. John Boyce of Santa Monica, and the bride, former Pomona college student, is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Lyall Pfeiffer of Santa Monica.

Assisting in serving, and in carrying out other party plans were Miss Henry's aunts, Mrs. H. C. Cordes, Mrs. Gordon Swoffer and Mrs. H. J. Gerken.

Present in addition to Miss Henry and Mr. Babchuck were their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry and Mr. and Mrs. Babchuck; with Messrs. and Mesdames Roy Brown and Schmidt and daughters, Clara and H. J. Gerken and daughter and son, Lucille and Dick; Franklin Chastan and Mr. Leslie Chastan, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Hammerdaughters, Betty Lee and Margaret; Eileen of Lakeview; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Cordes, Anaheim; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Swoffer and daughter and son, Elva May and Gordon, and George Hamersmidt, Placentia; Mrs. Roy Schalten and son, Happy of Santa Ana; James Henry Jr., son of the home.

Dance Climaxes Events For Child Study Group

Highlighting activities of the season for members of Ebbl Child Study section was a dinner dance last night at Long Beach Pacific Coast club. Mrs. Chester Horton, Mrs. Harold Moomaw and Mrs. James Merigold formed the committee in charge of arrangements.

Present for the affair were Messrs. and Mesdames James Merigold, Roscoe Conklin, John Cannon, John Ebersole, Aubrey Glines, C. H. Holles, Thoburn White, George Peterson, Earl Olson, Herman Ranney, Harold Moomaw, Hans Wahlberg, Loren Moore, Bernard Parker, Joe Hersher, Ira Kroese, Chester Horton, John Van Dyke, T. P. McKee, Dr. and Mrs. Edward Lee Russell, Dr. and Mrs. John P. Davis, and Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Rhone.

Harmony Bridge Club

Members of Harmony Bridge club were luncheon guests of Mrs. Alice Tolhurst and Mrs. Amanda Holmes Tuesday at Rossmore cafe.

The group adjourned to Masonic temple, where prizes for bridge play were awarded to Mesdames Carrie Cole and Juanita Cozad, high and low in auction; Emma Jean Maxwell and Jennie Shippe, high and low in contract.

The next meeting will be a covered dish luncheon in the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Gowdy, 320 Kilson Drive, on June 15.

Family Group Attends Dinner in Honor of Engaged Pair

Bringing together a family group, Mr. and Mrs. James J. Henry were dinner hosts recently in compliment to their daughter, Mrs. Eleanor G. Henry and her fiancé, Walter Babchuck, whose engagement was announced at the Easteride. The bridegroom-to-be is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Babchuck of Los Angeles.

West Pine street was scene of the party. Following the serving of 6:30 o'clock dinner, the game of hearts was introduced. When the time came for the awarding of prizes, each guest was presented with a photograph of the young bride-elect.

Miss Henry was charmingly attired in net over flowered material; her mother, Mrs. Henry wore rose floral print; and Mrs. Babchuck wore blue. Each of the three received a corsage bouquet from Walter Babchuck.

Assisting in serving, and in carrying out other party plans were Miss Henry's aunts, Mrs. H. C. Cordes, Mrs. Gordon Swoffer and Mrs. H. J. Gerken.

Present in addition to Miss Henry and Mr. Babchuck were their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry and Mr. and Mrs. Babchuck; with Messrs. and Mesdames Roy Brown and Schmidt and daughters, Clara and H. J. Gerken and daughter and son, Lucille and Dick; Franklin Chastan and Mr. Leslie Chastan, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Hammerdaughters, Betty Lee and Margaret; Eileen of Lakeview; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Cordes, Anaheim; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Swoffer and daughter and son, Elva May and Gordon, and George Hamersmidt, Placentia; Mrs. Roy Schalten and son, Happy of Santa Ana; James Henry Jr., son of the home.

FINAL CLUB EVENT

Members of a contract bridge club were assembled for their final meeting of the season Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Z. B. West and Mrs. H. T. Dunning entertained in the latter's home, 1637 East Fourth street.

Luncheon was served in advance of card play, with Mrs. L. G. Swales and Mrs. B. J. MacMullen scoring first and second high. Other presiding were Mrs. Lillian Flood of Pasadena; Mesdames Sara Johnston, Haddon, Marguerite Borgmeyer, and the two hostesses, with a guest, Mrs. West's mother, Mrs. M. A. Yarnell.

Irvine Park Home is Scene of Club Party

Bright hued nasturtiums centered small tables during serving of a delectable course Tuesday when Mrs. Joe Irwin entertained members of her bridge club in her home in Irvine Park.

Mrs. Philip Santmyer and Miss Virginia Entravia, both of New Orleans, and Mrs. Joe Winder of this city, were welcomed as guests of the group. Mrs. Santmyer was the former Miss Virginia Thurston of Laguna Beach. Others present included Mesdames William Jerome Jr., Stanley Norton, Woodrow Barnett, Terry Stephenson Jr., Quincy Hardy and the hostess.

You and Your Friends

Robert H. Blee of Bishop was a guest over the holidays of his mother and aunt, Mrs. Ida Blee and Mrs. R. J. Blee, 311 Orange avenue. Mr. Blee left Monday morning to resume his work as principal of Bishop High school. Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Smith and son Maurice Jr., and daughter Nancy of Chicago, Ill., spent several days this week with Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Kennedy of Newport road.

Santa Anans Attend Birthday Party in Los Angeles

Games, a peanut hunt and a puppet show began a gala afternoon for a group of guests gathered in observance of the fourth birthday anniversary of Athalia Anita Irvine Saturday afternoon in her home in Los Angeles. Guests included a number of her Santa Ana friends.

Motion pictures of the young people at play were taken during the afternoon. Miss Patricia Swanner of this city was winner in a peanut hunt. Guests were asked to the dining room. Balloons were suspended from the chandelier and tied to the backs of chairs, while at each place were hobby horses filled with candies and dolls as favors. In the center of the table was a merry-go-round in bright circus colors, and mechanical toys added to the setting.

Refreshments of birthday cake and ice cream roll were served by the honoree's mother and grandmother, Mrs. James Irvine, Jr., and Mrs. Richardson, assisted by Miss Jean Richardson and Mrs. Mather and daughter of Redondo Beach.

Sharing the affair with the little hostess were Virginia and Rosemary Hellis and Mrs. Bradford Hellis; Moya King and Mrs. Loy-al King; Patricia and Cara Lee Swanner and Mrs. Charles Swanner all of this city; Virginia Ross, Betty Ross, Mary Lou Shurtliff, Deborah Morse, Norma Morse, Fritzle Hunerardt, Peter Tette, Georgie Palmer, Siegfried Wibeig and Clair Matchel all of Los Angeles.

Barbara Joan Wilson Celebrates Fifth Birthday

Because her grandmother, Mrs. F. C. Rowland has been ill for the past ten days, little Miss Barbara Joan Wilson celebrated her fifth birthday anniversary very quietly late last week in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wilson, 325 Sixth street, Tustin.

Although Mrs. Rowland is recuperating in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wilson, she was not able to take part in the birthday party. In the group with Mr. and Mrs. Wilson and their young daughter were Mayor F. C. Rowland, together with Barbara Joan's paternal grandparents and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Wilson and Miss Norma Wilson; with the young celebrant's great grandmother, Mrs. C. F. Crose.

Mrs. Wilson served decorated birthday cake and ice cream to the group.

Mayflower Club Names New President

Mrs. Laura Sanborn was elected president of Mayflower club to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Mrs. Ellen Smith, at meeting Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. A. T. Perkins in El Modena.

Mrs. J. A. Parkinson, retiring president, and Mrs. Edward Cochens, retiring secretary, were presented with gifts. Cards were played informally during the rest of the afternoon.

Mrs. Perkins had the assistance of Mrs. Sanborn in serving refreshments.

Present with Mrs. Perkins and Mrs. Sanborn were Mesdames Edward Cochens, Fannie Cunningham, C. E. Fisher, E. E. Frisbie, William Maryme, J. A. Parkinson, Fred Sanford, Harvey Springer, A. C. Wiebe, V. C. Shidler, C. W. Rowland, Harvey Sykes and Mrs. W. G. Pagenkopp, a guest.

Pierian Club Elects Officers; Enjoys Program on "Hobbies"

Electing officers taking part in a program on "Hobbies," members of Pierian club met Tuesday afternoon as guests of Mrs. J. D. Watkins in her Balboa Island home. Mrs. H. W. Guthrie was named president; Mrs. Earl Ladd, vice-president; Mrs. Watkins, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Jennie Crawford opened the program with an original poem, "Fancy Work." Also, she read poems, "Spare Time" and "Wings" written by an associate member of the club, Mrs. F. A. Davis of Washington, D. C. Mrs. George Bond read "Playtime"; Mrs. Earl Ladd, "The Cousins' Visit"; Mrs. Margaret Church "Two Hobbies"; Mrs. Watkins, "A New Leaf."

Completing the program, Mrs. E. G. Warner, a guest, read "Summer," "The Sea at Night" and "Growing Old."

Luncheon was served to precede other events of the afternoon. Plans were made for the July meeting, which will be held in the home of Mrs. Ladd.

Marilyn Hamil Assists On Program in Anaheim

Guest artist on a recent program presented by piano students of Margaret Buttore of Anaheim was Miss Marilyn Hamil of this city, expression pupil of Gladys Simpson Shafer, Mrs. Shafer, Mrs. Jay Hamil and Miss Maurie Hamil were among Santa Anans present for the affair.

Little Miss Hamil, who is just ten years old, gave an interesting group of Colonial, Spanish and Chinese readings in costume. Said to be especially well done was her reading of a full length play, "The Great Bell of Peking."

POET SHELLEY UNDER FIRE

They built a great pyre on the beach and placed Shelley's body on it. Incense, oil and salt were cast on the flames, wine was poured on the poet's body. The human ashes and bone were buried in the Protestant cemetery in Rome.

So died a great rebel, a great poet, one of the flaming names of England. His greatness lay in his passionate and proud self-banishment—a banishment from all that he considered ignoble, commonplace, and lifeless in his native land.

STORIES IN STAMPS

BY I. S. KLEIN
He Revealed The SHAMES OF SOCIETY

In the Norwegian city of Grimstad, a young chemist's assistant spent his time writing poetry and deploring the faults he noticed in the social setup. He was Henrik Ibsen, born in 1828, and studying to be a doctor. But the tragedies of society so overwhelmed the young apprentice that Ibsen soon devoted all his time to exposing them in writing. His first plays were rejected, but soon his genius prevailed and he found himself, at 23, manager and producer of a small theater in Bergen. Gradually he worked up to production of his great masterpieces, which soon made him the greatest dramatist of the 19th century. His poetic dramas, more important of which was "Brand," helped spread his fame. When he died in 1906, at the age of 78, his works had been translated and staged in all parts of the world. A special set of stamps, issued by Norway in 1928, commemorates the centennial of his birth.

WAR AND CHEMISTRY

As the European situation becomes more grave, it is well to recall what many people contend was the reason Germany entered the war in 1913.

In 1912 Fritz Haber, a German chemist, succeeded in producing ammonia by inducing atmospheric nitrogen to combine with hydrogen. Prior to that time, over half of the nitrogen of the world came from salt-peter deposits in Chile. In 1913, Chile produced 476,715 short tons of nitrogen, as compared with the total production of 843,525 tons.

Haber found that under proper circumstances the energy required for making ammonia from its two constituent gases was small enough to make the process economical, and the German war lords decided that, with an assured supply of combined nitrogen within their own borders to furnish them with explosives in any quantity desired, they were in a position to embark upon a war of proportions theretofore unimagined.

Of course, ammonia is also a very valuable factor in fertilizer.

A book, entitled "Man In a Chemical World", points out "had it not been for the important discoveries of chemists in this direction and their application by chemical industry; there is little question that food production would ultimately have been the limiting factor in the growth of population as Malthus had prophesied, even though the earlier discovery of artificial fertilizers had postponed its coming."

Germany was not successful, even with her unlimited amount of explosives because other nations also learned quickly to produce nitrogen from the air.

In 1934, however, Germany still was producing nearly twice as much nitrogen as any other country in the world. More than 460,000 tons against the United States 256,000 tons.

It would seem that with this experience, Germany and Italy would be rather slow to start an international war in Europe. Nations do not start wars unless they believe they can conquer those who they will have to fight.

PROGRESS IN THE AIR

A statement by Glenn Martin, on his visit here, revealed that production of American-type planes is to be an outstanding feature of Russia's plane-building program. This news, coming shortly after revelations that Russian American-type craft completely outclassed other ships in engagements over Madrid, should bolster this country's pride over its progress in this line of aviation.

A news story also reveals that two Akron, O., inventors patented a new type of airship control that may avert the danger of airships, struck by gusts or squalls, twisting and breaking in midair. It was just such disasters that befell the navy's Shenandoah, Akron, and Macon and shattered the nation's faith in lighter-than-air craft.

Whether the new invention will change this attitude remains to be seen. If it does, and somehow dispels the jinx that has dogged our dirigibles, Uncle Sam should just about lead the aviation parade.

RENT STRIKE

According to press dispatches, the United Automobile Workers, Pontiac, Michigan, have decided that they will not only regulate wages but also rents.

Charles Barker, chairman of a United Automobile Workers' committee appointed to bring about a reduction in Pontiac rentals, announced "the strike is O. K."

"It is up to the property owners now. We have instructed tenants to withhold rent payments."

This is a nice example of collective bargaining establishing one thing by force, instead of on a voluntary mutually agreeable basis. And if these things are established by force, sooner or later we will have to establish everything by force.

Has the government given up all authority to determine what is justice, or will it be determined finally by collective bargaining?

EUROPEAN WAR SITUATION

The action of Germany in torpedoing Almeria, Spanish port, as a reprisal for the airplane attack on their ship, the Deutschland, brings the European situation into a dangerous state.

Any war that might break out in Europe will do infinite harm to the people of the United States even if they are able to keep out of the war. Any breaking up of natural trade channels works great hardship on those engaged in this trade. Any conflict that reduces the natural division of products and labor lowers the standard of living of all people.

It is hoped that the statesmen of Europe will be able to bring order out of the present chaos.

USURY

The State of California has had quite a battle over trying to establish a legal interest rate. The State Franchise Commissioner, however, makes a charge of 1 per cent a month for any delinquent payments on taxes.

Reformation should certainly begin at home, rather than trying to reform others!

Better Jobs
FOR ALL

—By R. C. HOILES

Universal Rule vs. Majority Rule

We are on a wave in the United States that the majority rule should be substituted for the universal rule as a guide to the Golden Rule. It seems that those in control of our educational institutions and government, by the very nature of things, being selected by the majority rule must not in any way question the wisdom of the majority rule on important, delicate, fundamental questions.

It makes no difference whether the majority rule on complicated, intricate questions have always been a failure; this majority rule gives them power and importance for the moment and so they set it up as the final guide as to the Golden Rule. It makes no difference to them whether they follow the universal rule—the equal rule—for everyone or not.

The dividing line in the two political beliefs will eventually simplify mer down to whether people believe in the universal rule, as outlined originally in the Constitution or believe that the voting majority should control the lives of everyone. Of course, those in power want the majority rule to concentrate the power in their hands. They well know that the majority could not decide all the things. It seems difficult to understand how the majority could be wise enough to select leaders with more wisdom than the voters.

Everytime in history that the majority rule has control they, of course, paralyzed initiative and invention, free enterprise so that eventually some strong leader grabbed control and with the army attempted to establish order. We pay an awful price for this cycle that keeps on eventually trying to decide all intricate and complicated things by majority rule. The majority rule can only be trusted to decide the minor and relatively unimportant things, not the intricate questions of what enterprise should be expanded, who should be the judge of advancement. As an example, the majority could decide without doing any great harm to society how much an individual had a right to personally consume but the majority rule could not intelligently decide how much any individual should own or manage. True democracy does not consist in the majority rule deciding the important, fundamental things. True democracy consists in the universal rule—no special privilege to anyone being the Golden Rule.

Danger in Investments

Professor Haney, discussing the question of oversaving, points out that he has never known of people over-saving. He says, "I have never observed that people lacked purchasing power in the boom times. It is just before the crash that precedes a depression that one sees the most free spending and riotous consumption." This certainly proves that lack of purchasing power of consumer goods is not the primary cause of depressions.

He explains that where the confusion is, is quite often there are misdirected investments and he very timely explains that these misdirected investments are a result of monopolies or an attempt to restrict production, making temporary artificial prices; that eventually these artificial prices are broken up causing great loss of wealth, due to large amounts being invested on the belief that there is a real demand for the production, when the demand is only indicated by large profits resulting from artificial restriction.

This certainly indicates the fact that when free competition is eliminated, prices then fall to be the true guide as to the material things that people want. Then, only chaos or a dictator remains.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—On many legislative proposals there can be serious differences of opinion but on the Black-Connelly wages and hours bill, as it now stands, there can be none. It is inconceivable impossible.

Some ill-informed commentators say it is the perfection of what N. R. A. should have done. When N. R. A. was written, there was no lawyer, inside of government or out, who believed it was within even sailing distance of the Constitution to set up a federal board to fix all wage scales anywhere in the United States by fiat.

N. R. A. sought to work it out by agreement to be imposed, as was the law merchant in England, by the courts, on recalcitrant minorities.

It didn't work but the experience was enlightening. It proved beyond peradventure that you can't, even by agreement, impose cast-iron wage scales on the infinite variety of circumstance in a country of 125,000,000 people sprawled across a whole continent.

Other commentators, speaking out of a vacuum of experience, have begun to pan any criticism with inbred conservative hair-tearing and breast-beating about the Federal Reserve. This is equally absurd.

Industry, taught by N. R. A., is pretty well reconciled to the principle of minimum wage and maximum hours. The battle is mostly over method.

Neither the authors of the bill as it is written nor its sponsors in congress are under any misapprehension about its unworkability in its present form. They had to start with something to shoot at.

eral statute governing interstate shipments, the laws of the states of the highest standard. This column is so enthusiastic about that as to give it the ultimate accolade. It wishes it had said it first.

But Bill Green has also had a brain-storm that deserves consideration—standardize the wages within an industry achieved anywhere by collective bargaining. That won't do as proposed, because it fails to consider differences in local circumstance, but it ought to be weighed as a basis for state standards on Mark Sullivan's plan.

Miss Perkins says that local differences justify no differentials in wage scales, but what does she know about labor? Apparently not even why we fought the Civil war. It is time for every respectable authority to come forward with its best constructive suggestions.

Little Benney's
Note Book

BY LEE PAPE

Me and Puds Simkins and Shorty Judge and Sid Hunt was sitting on my front steps talking and arguing, and Sid's big brother Fred went passed whistling, me saying, Is your brother working now, Sid?

Fred became famous for not working, and Sid said, No, he's too busy thinking up plots for moving pictures. All he has to do is sell one and he'll get so much money for it that all he'll have to do will be to wait till he sells another one, he said.

Sounding like a cliché, and I said, G. maybe we could think up a movie plot.

Sure, let's do it, I'll get my brother Fred to sell it for us and he'll probably want even charge us for it, Sid Hunt said, and Puds Simkins said, Let's start it with a lot of excitement by a baby getting kidnapped, and a lot of the wrong people get shot in the excitement but nobody catches the kidnappers or even sees them to find out if they have any scars or anything to identify them, and then a lot of years go by and the baby is 20 years old.

Then he couldn't be a baby, I said, and Puds said, Who said he couldn't? You don't want the whole picture full of babies, do you? he said.

Sure, he's 20 years old and he comes back home to see the place where he was born at, Shorty Judge said, And his mother and Father are still sad to think of him being kidnapped without any trace, he said, and I said, That's right, and it makes him so mad he takes a vow and promises them he'll find his own kidnappers and have them arrested.

Sure, so he sets out on his travels but he awt to have a clew, Puds said, and Sid said, Well how can he have a clew when you went and took away all their scars and everything?

Being a good argument, and just then some more of the fellows came up and we got up a game of cops and racketeers, probably being the end of the plot.

News Behind The News

BY PAUL MALLON

STRENGTH—

WASHINGTON, June 3.—War men were less excited about the Russo-German bomb-tossing in Spain than were the fluttery diplomats. Fighting men felt little prospect of the situation getting out of hand, for reasons which sound convincing.

Hitler and Mussolini, in the first place, are merely the barkers in their respective circuses. Behind them, in the inside tent, are their general staffs. No military man can believe the German and Italian general staffs would risk a major conflict at this time, unless they wish to commit national suicide.

Their known deficiencies have been widely advertised, but you can get a bird's-eye picture of the whole situation by considering one simple item. Wars cannot be conducted without iron. Ships, airplanes, tanks and men under arms count much in the first onrush. But wars are not won in the first clash, and conflicts cannot be sustained without iron.

Latest available official figures (1935) show the relative strength of the nations in iron production (millions of tons):

France	.....32	Russia	.....10	Japan	.....2
Germany	.....12	Britain	.....7	Italy	.....0.6

NOTE—Some changes have occurred since 1935, notably the acceleration in Britain and Russia, but Italy has not improved and the relative standing is about the same.

FACE—

No answer that you can find for either Germany, Italy or Russia being involved in the Spanish fighting makes any real sense. The only excuse for their interest in Spain is purely political and not economic or reasonably purposeful.

To understand it fully, you must recollect that the dictatorships developed because their nations were dissatisfied with the division of the bones after the 1914 dog-fight. Their idea is to restore their nations to a diplomatic and economic position in the world—without fighting. They thrive on agitation, but not on war.

So far, they have done fairly well on the political side, but very little on the economic side (except, of course, within their own borders). Neither Germany nor Italy has any assets which would enable it to gain the approval of the SEC for a bond issue. They are merely maintaining the best face possible to cover their international poverty, making the best of their bad situation.

Their cause in Spain is purely political face-saving and face-maintaining. And if they do not intend to do it without fighting a general war, they are a lot crazier than most authorities here believe.

What Germany and Italy really need are raw materials, gold, international balance, credit, etc., and they know very well they will not find these in Spain.

PINCERS—

The only asset possessed by Italy or Germany which is causing any fear around British or French GHQ's is their air forces. How much these would amount to right now is not entirely clear. In Spain, this asset has not been enhanced, as is well known.

Military experts outside the air service still say no ground was gained in Spain by airplanes, that they were merely proved to be the eyes and propagandists of the armed forces. That is, they terrorize the populace and can be used against troops in many instances. But many still remember that conscription could not, or at least was not, tried in London until the Zeppelin started bombing the city. Air men tell the other side of the story which everybody knows.

However, on the sea or land, France and England seem to have little reason to be apprehensive. The French fortifications are rated by most military authorities as being well-nigh impregnable. The British fleet, holding an advantage over Germany today which is greater than at the outset of the World War, could certainly be expected to keep Hitler's pocket battleships in the North Sea pocket which nature has furnished. The Italian fleet would dominate the Mediterranean in any outbreak today. But England controls Gibraltar and the Suez. Mussolini's boats could paddle around in the pond, but England could keep them there and maintain its longer life-line around the Horn to the Far East.

This should be enough to convince nearly anyone that, when Hitler and Mussolini are thinking up things to do these days, starting a war is not one of them.

OUR CHILDREN

BY ANGELO PATRI

FEAR

Humanity has been cursed by fear since the beginning of its stay on earth. Adam and Eve were afraid in the Garden. Cain slew his brother in fear of him. There is no son or daughter of Adam and Eve who has not a trace of the curse in him, who has not trembled at a thought, shivered at a shadow, covered in the dark. If we could find a way to rid ourselves of fear we would conquer all evil and know heaven in our time.

To cure any error one must seek its cause, and we have sought the cause of fear for many centuries without success. There are those who say that fears are conditioned, that is, we have an experience that frightens us and the fear is recorded in our nerve cells thereafter. That might account for some particular fears. If a dog bites a man it is not unlikely that the man thereafter will have a fear of a dog. But what about fears that are so dim that one cannot trace their cause, nor their direction, nor their rise in consciousness? Everyone knows such fears.

In a moment of quiet, with no thought of trouble, a shadow steals over the spirit, a chill strikes the backbone, an uneasy feeling begins filtering through the inner self. What is it one fears? Nothing. But it is there, threatening, paralyzing the will, chilling the soul. What is the origin of those fears that steal out of the night? That rise suddenly at times of crisis? They are not real, not actual, in that they have a definite cause clearly known, but they are there.

I don't know what they are or where they come from. I know that they are real enough to bother people a deal more than is good for them. Not knowing what or why or whence, the best thing one can do is to deny the fear, keep denying it, and keep trying to get hold of a courageous idea until the fear leaves. It is idle to try to instill courage into a mind that is clutched by fear.

Deny the fear steadily until it loses hold, then try for the courageous thought.

I am not saying to the man who is in agony of fear that he has no fear. I am telling him that he can get rid of it by denying its reality, by saying to himself, in faith believing, that this fear has no roots, no real excuse for being, and that one good sound thought of faith and one of courage, edged under it, will send it on its way.

Faith and confidence kill fear. The difficulty is in laying hold on faith and confidence. When fear takes hold on a soul, be it child or man, that soul is practically helpless until fear can be displaced by confidence, and confidence cannot be induced by the victim. It is best to get help from some understanding friend, or some skilled physician. Don't be afraid to go to a reputable psychiatrist and tell your story of fear and ask for help. Fear that gets such a hold on its victim needs professional care.

This means the care, the help, the advice, of a man or woman who has devoted a lifetime of study toward curing mental conditions, which, if allowed to go without help, may cause serious trouble indeed. A victim of undeveloped fear that attacks again and again needs treatment. Conditions of fears are easy enough to handle. Remove the cause and the fear vanishes. But the deeply disguised fear—the fear that attacks in the dark, without rhyme or reason, makes help necessary.

Mr. Patri has prepared a special booklet (No. 301) entitled, "Obedience," in which he tells parents how to cope with the difficult problems of disobedience. Send for it, enclosing ten cents. Address your request to Mr. Angelo Patri, The Bell Library, a care of this newspaper, 247 West 43rd street, New York, N. Y.

What Other Editors Say

OVERSTEPPING LIMITS

If anything ought to be obvious in Washington these days it is the fact that we have got far beyond the point where we can safely let party politics have a hand in the naming of government servants.

That worked fairly well during our early history, when the Federal Government's machine was relatively small and affected only a few people. But to go on with it in an era when the government is doing things which affect every individual in the country is sheer madness.

An illuminating case in point is the trouble which is now besetting the Social Security Board.

Rodney Dutcher pointed out the other day that the Senate voted into an appropriation bill a harmless looking little rider requiring all of the Social Security board's appointees who receive more than $5000 a year must be confirmed by the Senate.

Now the Social Security Board is going to have to administer the most tremendous insurance scheme ever conjured into being. Upward of 26,000,000 Americans are contributing to the funds which it is to care for and dispense. It will need a considerable corps of lawyers, economists, insurance experts and executives, and it is to the interest of the entire country that these people be chosen on a basis of pure merit.

It would be hard to think of a more completely indefensible bit of political chicanery than this.

To the credit of the House of Representatives, it has voted to put all Social Security Board appointees—experts, lawyers and all—under strict civil service rules. The disputed bill is now in conference; and Dutcher reports that the Senate conferees, who are resisting this effort to establish the merit system, include such eminent statesmen as Senators Glass of Virginia, Byrnes of South Carolina, Russell of Georgia, Adams of Colorado and Stewie of Oregon.

How is a stand like that to be defended on any rational basis? The answer is clear; it isn't. We could endure that sort of thing fifty years ago, when government employees were comparatively few; we can't possibly endure it now, when they are many and have responsibilities which affect the lives of all of us.

We have heard a good deal of loose talk lately about the destruction of the American form of government. It ought to be pointed out that in the long run no surer way of destroying it could be devised than to give it ever-increasing duties—and compel it to meet them with staffs of "experts" chosen by party hacks for political advantage.—Salinas Index-Journal.

P.T. A. ACTIVITIES

McKinley Sixth Grade Picnic Planned for June 10

Plans for McKinley sixth grade party to be in the form of a picnic this year on June 10 with members of McKinley P.T. A. executive board as hostess, were made last night in the home of Mrs. Albert Garthe, 908 West Pine street.

Mrs. Herbert Hildebrand, president gave the highlights of the state convention held last week in Pasadena.

Mrs. Garthe served a dessert course at the beginning of the evening.

Present with the hostess were Mesdames Paul Webb, Herbert Hildebrand, Harold Bullock, Norman Franklin, John State, Cecil Wilson, Elmer Christensen, Dale Elliott, William Kredel, Faber Bray, Roy Keckner, Miss Mary Andrews, Miss Marjorie Ann Mathes and Miss Katherine Chapman.

Lathrop P.T. A. Plans Rummage Sale for Saturday

Lathrop P.T. A. has announced a rummage sale to be held all day Saturday at 414 East Fourth street. Clothing, furniture and bric-a-brac will be sold.

Contributions for the sale may be left with Mrs. R. D. Flaherty at 702 South Broadway. Mrs. Flaherty, telephone 368 or Mrs. V. Flaherty, telephone 3768 or Mrs. V. C. Shidler, 3258 M will call for materials if necessary, it was announced.

Members wishing to assist during the sale are asked to meet with Mrs. Flaherty Friday for covered-dish luncheon at noon in her home.

John Muir P.T. A. to Give Party June 8

John Muir P.T. A. will entertain with a benefit party Tuesday afternoon, June 8, at 2 o'clock in the school kindergarten room. The affair will be open to the public. Mrs. Carl Warner, association president, and her committee are completing plans for the affair this week, it was announced.

Julia Lathrop

Complimenting the principals and sixth grade teachers of those students who will be coming to Lathrop next fall, members of Lathrop faculty entertained with a tea Wednesday. A long tea table in the rotunda of the main building was decorated with spring flowers. Dainty sandwiches and cakes were served by girls of the foods classes. Several musical selections were played by members of Lathrop orchestra, who were seated in the balcony overlooking the rotunda.

"Whisper Snapper," a play, will be presented by Miss Cornell's drama club Tuesday, June 8, at 8 o'clock in high school auditorium. Ninth grade students are sponsoring the ticket sale. Proceeds will be used by the Drama club for a gift to the school from the ninth grade. The play, a romantic comedy, deals with modern problems concerning a minister, two millionaires' sons, and their families. The minister, Richard Morgan, will be played by Bill Wade. Mary Van Esen takes the part of the mother, Richard Watson is Jerry Truman; Dudley Grant is played by Douglas May; Wade Truman is played by Clifford Whitford; George Logan takes the part of Foster Lee; Donovan Rowe plays Zoe Stafford; Irma Jean May, Barbara Lee; Kenneth Anderson is Smiley, Leon Smith plays Doctor Gerard, Mary Alice Tillotson plays Elizabeth and Ruth Hawley takes the part of Josephine Stafford.

Art classes in Mrs. Marjorie Crumrine's classes are enjoying an exchange display of work with Arcadia. Water color, landscapes, and crayola scratch technique done by the Arcadia seventh and eighth graders is on exhibit. Seventh and eighth grades of Lathrop are completing work done on flower designs, and costumes illustrating books and plays.

Lathrop branch library has on display this week interesting work done by sixth graders of Roosevelt, Edison, Lowell, Delhi, McKinley and Spurgeon schools. Soap carvings, hand bound scrapbooks, water color murals, puppets, wood work, crayon cloth tapestries and various other examples of work done during the year are exhibited under the direction of Miss Campbell, Mrs. Reid, Mr. Sullivan, Miss Potts, Mr. Hathaway, Mrs. Butterfield and Miss Bell.

Hoover School Annual Picnic Comes Friday at Irvine Park

Hoover school teachers, students and P.T. A. members will be joined by additional guests for an annual school picnic tomorrow afternoon at Irvine park. The fun will begin as school as school is out, with carloads of children and their parents leaving for the park.

Members of the P.T. A. are aiding in working out plans for the affair, and will have committee workers on hand to supervise playground activities. Mrs. C. F. Leithoff is in charge of arrangements for supervised picnic dinner to be served at 6 o'clock.

Mrs. John J. Vernon, P.T. A. president, announced that a feature of the evening will be a musical program to be presented at the pavilion, where an amplifying set will be erected.

GIRL SCOUTS

Girl Scouts of Franklin school enjoyed picnic supper recently on the grounds of the N. E. Wilson home on West First street. Miss Mary Beasley, troop leader, supervised arrangements for the affair, which was shared by 15 girls. The party followed a regular Scout meeting in the school.

Frances Willard

Marjorie Mize, president of Nos Amici Latin club, has announced that the club will be carried on by some of the future ninth grade girls, but that only Latin students may join.

Starting with five members, this club has increased in number until 18 girls now belong. Organized during the second quarter, other officers who have been elected for the cabinet are Frances Page and Aileen Smith.

Mrs. Budd, honorary advisor, has assisted the girls in giving a private dance and a tea as special events.

"Modern Lives" is the book from which the H-S-C English class is now reading the biographies of famous men. This book was written by Charles Robert Gaston, and is one of the Academic Classics. Their last subject was in the English readers from which they studied "Julius Caesar," "The Vision of Sir Launfal" and "Snow Bound."

Tennis club members will be guests at a party Friday at the home of Helen and Virginia Finley in Tustin. Badminton, baseball and croquet will be played. Picnic supper will be served early in the evening.

A party is being planned by the cast of the play "My Aunt from New York." The cast includes Natalie Nelson, and her understudy Marguerite Baker, Virginia Jordan, and her understudy Doris Jessie; Wilmer Thweatt, Irma Mae Youel and her understudy, Elaine Howard; Frances Jean Smith, Billie Thompson, and Joanne Hockaday, director.

Ninth grade girls have plans in readiness for a candy sale to be held Monday June 7, in the arches at school.

Incoming seventh graders were welcomed by Mr. Mitchell, principal of Willard, during a recent assembly meeting. Mr. Mitchell gave a short talk preceding the introduction of DeLacy Cook, president of the commissioners; Bill Hull, captain of the safeties; and Virginia Campbell, assistant captain.

The visitors saw the regular seventh grade assembly sponsored by Miss Plumb and Mr. M. L. Scott, featuring the trained dog, Sonny Boy, from Los Angeles. Several musical numbers were played by the seventh grade orchestra and the faculty male quartet, composed of Mr. Lund, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Schmid, and Mr. Horn sang several numbers.

Coach Lund started Decathlon Tuesday for the last time this year. Decathlon is taken at the end of every quarter by those who are not exempt. Those exempt are excused by the doctor or have gone out for a sport and have made the school team.

The seventh, eighth and ninth grade varsity teams were chosen by the captains of each of these grades.

Marilyn Bear, Janet McFadden, Betty Platt, Betty Stocker, Betty Hawkins, Pat Collins, Peggy Paul, Dorothy Winterbourne, Ruth Hutchinson and Patty Peterson are the seventh grade varsity team.

The eighth grade varsity team is composed of Helen Holzgrafe, Helen Butler, Annie Cazares, Betty Crawford, Fern Dargatz, Dorothy Eley, Constance Haisell, Clara Lee McMillan, Dorothy Raitt, Clela Stone, and Inetta Woodward. Betty Seibe, Carmen Hernandez, Isabelle Reilstab, Mary Lou Mann, Helen Tibbals, Hollis Tibbals, Barbara Preninger, Helen Reyes, Marieta Brown, Lois Green, Lucille Crawford, Audrey Johnson, and Lucille Whedbee are the girls on the ninth grade varsity team.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks pink.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. Be.

Kite Flying and Games Occupy Diamond Students on Field Day

Diamond school field day and P.T. A. meeting were held Tuesday at the school, with the morning hours occupied with games for the children, and a picnic lunch served by P.T. A. members in the afternoon.

Games in the morning were under direction of the teachers. Fifth and sixth grade pupils under Mrs. Fredella Keeler played basketball; third and fourth, under Mrs. Gertrude Winchester, kickball; third, fourth, fifth and sixth grade boys played indoor baseball; and first and second grade, under Mrs. Hilda Eckles played dodge ball and flap-jack.

There was a kite flying contest during the afternoon, with John Patterson receiving a prize for the highest-flying kite; John Bettencourt, second highest; Jack McKenzie, most unique kite; and Mary Louise Daniels, prettiest kite. Room prizes for kites went to Doris Dugger, fifth and sixth grades, for prettiest; Virginia McKenzie, third and fourth grades, prettiest; and John McGuire, first and second grades, prettiest.

Mrs. J. A. Blackwell, P.T. A. president, gave a complete report of the recent state convention in Pasadena, and announced that several members were planning to attend the district meeting being held in Cypress today.

P.T. A. Council Head Names Two New Chairmen

Two new chairmen for Santa Ana Council P.T. A. were named by President Mrs. Floyd Mitchell Tuesday at a monthly meeting in board of education building on North Main street. Mrs. Dean Smiley was appointed welfare chairman and Mrs. John Wilcox, safety chairman.

Frank A. Henderson, superintendent of city schools, gave a talk on "The Problem of Child Welfare", and spoke of ways and means of raising funds for child welfare.

Welfare chairmen of each school reported on activities of the year. Mrs. Wilcox announced plans for an extensive progressive program for safety to be carried on next year.

Announcement was made that the next meeting will combine July and August events. Mrs. Mary B. Robertson will receive the group for an all day affair August 3 in her Laguna Beach home at 212 Wave street.

Franklin Teachers Are Hosts to P.T. A. Board

Incoming and retiring officers of Franklin P.T. A. were guests of teachers of the school recently when a picnic supper was held in the school kindergarten. Decorations were in yellow and blue.

Mrs. L. H. Harris, an active member of the association who is leaving Franklin district, was presented with a lace table cloth as a gift of the group.

Hostesses were teachers included—Egger.

Spurgeon Members Plan Special Meeting

Plans for a special meeting of Spurgeon P.T. A. next Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock in the school were made by members of the executive board yesterday morning in the school. Mrs. L. D. Spencer, president, was in charge of the meeting.

Completing the group were Mesdames Kenneth Loughton, R. H. Birkhead, J. E. Arterburn, C. B. Fendrick, James Glens, R. E. Steinberger, Victor Hupp, T. H. Huffman, Paul Elvy, Guy Maties, J. E. Sims and Principal Walter

ASHEN WILL BE HONORED HERE

Plans for a banquet and reception to honor Clyde H. Ashen, recently elected State Deputy of the Knights of Columbus, were revealed here today by officers of the Santa Ana Council.

George F. Nash, past grand knight of the Santa Ana Council, is in charge of arrangements as general chairman of the affair. The banquet and reception honoring Ashen on his elevation to the highest post will be held at 6:30 p. m., June 15, in American Legion hall. Nash said the public is invited.

Members of the reception committee who will assist Nash are Dr. V. A. Rossiter, George F. Ravenkamp, Charles W. Wolford, Edward W. Haffner, E. J. Vosskuhler, Tom Giesler, J. Riley Huber, Anthony Kneip, Ray Whitten, Edward Kolbe, Robert Sandon, Walter Markel and P. C. Dietrich.

Nash said today that prominent speakers from Southern California will be on the program and that many state officers of the order will be among the honored guests. Dr. Rossiter will act as toastmaster and Mayor Fred Rowland will deliver the address of welcome.

Plans for the affair will be completed tonight at the meeting of the Santa Ana Council. The program will be announced following the meeting, Nash said.

Officers for the coming year also will be elected at tonight's meeting of the organization.

The speakers are: Dr. Janet Fowler Nelson, author of "Working Wives"; Dr. Henry Pratt Fairchild, of the graduate school of New York University; Miss Charles O. Williams, president of the National Business and Professional Women; Mrs. Margaret Culkin Banning, popular author of "Letters to Susan" and other stories; Dr. Helen Thompson, assistant professor, Clinic of Child Development at Yale University; and Mrs. Betty Gram Swing, well known newspaper woman.

1,161 Get Jobs Through Service

During the past month the National Reemployment Service in Orange county has placed 1161 persons in employment, it was reported today by Charles Fallert, Orange county manager for NRA. All types of employment were included in the list for which NRA furnished men and women during the month, Fallert said. A large portion of the number placed were sent into private employment.

Fallert emphasized that the National Reemployment Service is not a relief organization, but a job-finding agency, placing workers on all kinds of public and private jobs.

STEEL BED SHEETS

Three bed sheets were the "limit" of loot taken by burglars who entered the home of T. Chichaguchi, Crystal Cove, yesterday, ransacking it.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

DONATI'S COMET WAS BELIEVED, BY THE PEOPLE OF FRANCE, TO HAVE BEEN RESPONSIBLE FOR THE RARE FLAVOR OF THE FRENCH WINES PRODUCED IN 1855.

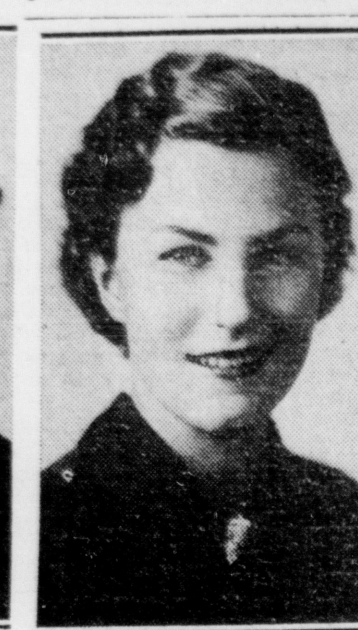

EVEN TODAY, SOME OF THE "COMET WINES" STILL ARE IN EXISTENCE, AND ARE USED ONLY ON SPECIAL OCCASIONS.

IN THE EARLY DAYS, A MUSHROOM GROWING NEAR A DEN OF SNAKES WAS CONSIDERED POISONOUS.

PLINY seems to have been responsible for a belief that exists, even up to today, that rusty iron, rotten cloth, or other "noxious objects" in the soil will produce poisonous mushrooms. Equally erroneous is the belief that a bright coin, dropped in a stew of mushrooms, will turn black if the plants are poisonous, but will remain bright if the species be edible.

TO HONOR THREE AT GRADUATION

I WOULD NOT BE A KING

The philosophy of men throughout history who, like England's one-time King Edward VIII, have turned their backs on power and greatness, may be found in the following lines from Shelley's "I Would Not Be a King":

I would not be a King — enough
Of woe it is to love;
The path to power is steep and rough,
And tempests reign above.
I would not climb the imperial throne;
This built on ice which fortune's sun
Thaws in the height of noon.

COUPLE SENTENCED ON MURDER CHARGE

JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 3.—(UP)—Glady MacKnight, 17, and her former sweetheart, Donald Wightman, 19, were sentenced today to prison terms of not less than 29 years and not more than 30. They were convicted of the second degree murder of Miss MacKnight's mother, Mrs. Helen MacKnight, last July 31.

The couple was sentenced to "hard labor at the state prison in Trenton."

Neither displayed emotion when Judge Thomas F. Meaney pronounced sentence.

Wightman, as he left the courtroom, smiled at his mother and father but they only stared at him.

When they were brought into the courtroom, each glanced at the other. Neither spoke.

Deputy Sheriffs Are "Watchdogs"

Two deputy sheriffs literally were "the watchdogs" of the county last night. J. J. Lakey, of Stanton and Commonwealth roads, west of Fullerton, called the sheriff's office yesterday to report that his watchdog had been killed.

He wanted the deputies to "keep an eye" on his service station. Deputy Sheriff Harvey Gulick and Steve Duhart answered the call and checked the locality for Lakey.

Constructive WPA Projects Praised

Approval of the highly constructive type of projects sponsored under WPA in Orange county, was expressed by Ralph G. Wadsworth, deputy state administrator of WPA, who was in Orange county yesterday from San Francisco headquarters.

Wadsworth noted that local projects were not of the leaf-raking type, but really useful in purpose, and complimented the Orange county organization and project sponsors upon the fact.

PARKING METERS FOR LAGUNA? COUNCIL PLANS TO EXPERIMENT

LAGUNA BEACH, June 3.—In a session lasting well past midnight, the Laguna Beach City Council took care of a crowded calendar of activities ranging from parking meters to sewers, electric signs to police badges, loudspeakers and recreation plans, and private patrol systems. Full attendance of councilmen, crowds of spectators, and, outside, a fine crop of spring frogs in full Aristophanic chorus, completed a pleasing ensemble.

Following disposal of many routine communications, the question of installation of parking meters was taken up, and, at this point, an unanimous petition signed by Forest Avenue merchants and property owners was filed, protesting against any of the meters on their street, the principal city business artery. Later, City Attorney Milburn G. Harvey was instructed, on vote of the council, to prepare specifications, bids, and the draft of an ordinance, under which, for a trial period, parking meters may be installed on Coast boulevard South from Broadway to near Legion Street, and half of Ocean Avenue, both sides, midway to Beach. Representatives of several meter factories and distributors were present, but were not called upon to amplify offerings already made by mail. Forest Avenue gets no meters, for awhile at least.

Another petition, signed by a large number of property owners on Coast boulevard North, McKnight's addition, and adjacent territory, requested action looking towards construction of sanitary sewers, to link up with the balance of the sewer system enjoyed by other portions of the city. A special meeting of council, in committee of the whole, will be next Tuesday, at which time, in conference with City Engineer Arthur Stead and Milburn G. Harvey, city attorney, preparatory steps will be taken, progress to be reported at the next regular council meeting, a fortnight hence.

In line with the movement under way, looking towards acquisition by the city of certain property on Park Avenue and on First Street, favorable preliminary action was taken upon a proposal submitted by the Laguna Beach Library trustees, that, by assuming an existing mortgage of $1250, the city will be given a deed to the library property and building. Inasmuch as the city now pays $300 annually towards the library, it was pointed out, that the purchase, if consummated, would virtually amortize itself in four years or so.

With the city already in possession of the property occupied by the chamber of commerce; and with only one lot, in private ownership, separating that property from the library, the council decided to take necessary steps to acquire the library property; and, accordingly, attorney Harvey was authorized to make inspection of the title to the land, this to be reported back at next meeting.

The new officers were presented with corsages. The meeting opened with a short business session at which time reports were made. The hostess committee included Mrs. Lily Strain Frank, Mrs. Ralph Lewis, Mrs. Angus McAlay, Mrs. Edward J. Power and Mrs. A. M. Christensen. Refreshments were served during the social hour.

The following officers were installed by Mrs. Edwards: Miss Emily Cuff, president; Mrs. George Lillie, first vice-president; Mrs. Lily Strain Frank, second vice-president; Mrs. A. M. Christensen, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert M. Seamans, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Louis Jacobsen, financial secretary; Mrs. C. A. Wagner, treasurer; Mrs. C. A. Cuff, critic; Mrs. J. A. Nemo, historian; Mrs. Arthur Staley, parliamentarian; and Mrs. J. T. John draw, auditor.

WOMAN ARRESTED IN ASSAULT CASE

On complaint of Ruth Handley, wife of Walter Handley, 810 East Second, now serving six months in county jail after conviction on assault and battery complaint, Mrs. Daniel Hill, 1211 Alabama street, Huntington Beach, was arrested on a similar charge last evening.

Mrs. Hill, visiting with Mrs. Handley and relatives, here used "indecent language," according to Mrs. Handley's complaint. Mrs. Hill said she was about to leave her car when Mrs. Handley told her to "put the child down." In picking up the child, Mrs. Hill bumped Mrs. Handley, breaking her glasses, the defendant said. She was not booked at county jail but was released on $100 bail to appear next Monday in Huntington Beach justice court.

Walter Handley, sentenced by Judge Kenneth Morrison, for "beating up" O. K. Forgy, summons server of 204 South Sycamore, was advised by the judge that "if whipping posts were in vogue, you would be the first one to be whipped."

Attack Charged By Movie Extra

HOLLYWOOD, June 3.—(UP)—District attorney's investigators today sought evidence to substantiate charges of a 17-year-old film extra girl that she had been criminally assaulted at a movie colony stag party.

The girl, whose name is being withheld at present, charged she and nearly 100 other extra girls were lured to the stag party under pretenses that they were to be engaged for work in a musical comedy production.

Assistant District Attorney Eugene D. Williams declares his investigators were questioning other girls allegedly present at the party and said he would issue complaints if the charges were upheld by sufficient evidence.

Woman Kicks At Officer, Lands

Sergeant W. E. B. Sherwood was nursing a bruised thigh today. He, Officer Ralph Pantuso and Matron Dorothy Russick said the bruise resulted from a kick administered by Mrs. Leila Simmons, 40, Santa Ana woman whom they arrested on a charge of being drunk.

Nick Pappas of the pool hall and lunch counter, 316 East Fourth street, called police, stating Mrs. Simmons had been drinking steadily for three weeks at his place, and refused to leave. The officers were forced to carry her from the place when she struggled and refused to leave. She will be treated at county hospital, it was said.

LOSES $150, PURSE

Police and Charles Clark, local restaurant man, were unable to find a purse containing $150, which Clark lost at a local pool hall last night.
